University of South Carolina - Aiken

Aiken, SC 29801

Dear Dr. Priest:

Thank you for your letter and prospectus of May 28, 2015, notifying SACSCOC of your intention to implement a Bachelor of Science in Industrial Process Engineering degree program, effective January 2016. The degree program was approved by the South Carolina Commission on Higher Education on February 5, 2015.

The University has offered a two year pre-engineering program for many years. Based on a new emphasis in the institution's strategic plan to serve the needs of industries in the market region and strong support from numerous local industries, the institution made a decision of implement a four year degree program in engineering. A four year program will also make it more likely that students in the area can go forward with completion of their degree rather than facing the logistical and financial issues with relocation.

Based on four program outcomes and eleven student learning outcomes, the program will require the completion of 129 credit hours. The four year program will require 55 credit hours of general education requirements, 68 credit hours in the major area, and 6 credit hours of major electives. Since the University was already offering the pre-engineering program, only 15 new courses were needed. A complete list of the curriculum course descriptions was provided. The program will be offered on the main campus in the traditional format. Projected enrollment in the program is 90 students in the first year, growing to 102 students in the second year.

A Faculty Roster Form was submitted describing the faculty members who will teach in the first year of the degree program. First year engineering courses will be taught by the current faculty member who has been teaching engineering courses in the two year program and the faculty member teaching mathematical and statistical courses. Business related courses, for example, ECON421, Engineering Economics and Finance, will be taught by faculty members in the business department. General education courses will be taught by the appropriate faculty in those areas. All current faculty members listed on the form appear to be qualified to teach the coursework assigned. Additional adjunct faculty members will be employed as needed. Two more full-time faculty members in engineering will be employed to teach in the program, one for fall 2016 and the second for fall 2017. The tenured, full-time faculty member who currently teaches engineering in the first two years of the program has a Ph.D. in Mechanical Engineering and an M.S. in Mechanical Engineering and is qualified to provide oversight and development of the curriculum.

Library and learning resources appear to be adequate for the degree program. Standard library resources include adequate library staff, print and electronic materials, computer equipment, instructional services, and library consortia agreements. A listing of the discipline-specific resources was provided, including a list of the additional databases which will be purchased to support the engineering program.

Student support services also appear to be adequate for students in the program. Along with numerous academic support services, these include career services, health services, counseling services, numerous student activities, disability services, and technology support services.

Physical resources and financial support also appear to be adequate for the new degree program. Adequate classrooms and laboratory space are available in the Penland Building, the location of the Department of Mathematical Science, in which engineering is housed. One classroom is being refitted with lab tables and electricity to accommodate the engineering activities. A list of additional materials, equipment, and software which will be purchased was provided. The projected sources of revenue and expenditures provided indicate that revenues will exceed expenditures by year two of the program. Approximately $1,000,000 in donations has already been pledged for the program, some of which are annual gifts.

Evaluation and assessment follows a standard process at the University. The process described appears to be adequate to provide an assessment of the effectiveness of the program. As noted above, both program outcomes and student learning outcomes were submitted in the prospectus. Also, a curriculum map was provided linking student outcomes to the courses in the program.

The Board of Trustees of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges reviewed the materials seeking approval of the Bachelor of Science in Industrial Process Engineering degree program. It was the decision of the Board to approve the program and include it in the scope of the current accreditation.

Enclosed is an invoice for $500 to help defray the cost of reviewing the prospectus

The Commission wishes you success in this endeavor.

1. ABSTRACT

The proposed change is to add a Bachelor of Science degree in Industrial Process Engineering (CIP code 14.3501) to the institution's roster of program offerings. The program builds upon more than 20 years of offering the first two years of an Engineering program, and input from an engaged local community of high tech companies who helped develop the curriculum. This undergraduate degree is designed to prepare engineering students to have the technical knowledge and skills in mathematics, science, engineering and management to analyze and solve problems in today's team oriented business environment. Students will be provided multiple opportunities to apply knowledge and skills learned in the classroom and laboratory to real world settings. The projected date of implementation is January 2016. In the initial academic year, the expected enrollment in the program is 90 students with growth to a projected on-going enrollment of 102 students by the second year. The program will occur on the University of South Carolina Aiken main campus using a traditional face-to-face instructional delivery.

2. BACKGROUND INFORMATION

USC Aiken was founded in 1961 as a result of the local community coming together to ask the state legislature to approve a degree granting institution to meet the needs of the area. Since it opened its doors, USC Aiken has developed into a comprehensive liberal arts institution committed to active learning through excellence in teaching, faculty and student scholarship, research, creative activities, and service. The University offers degrees in the arts and sciences and in the professional disciplines of business, education, and nursing. All courses of study are grounded in a liberal arts and sciences core curriculum. USC Aiken also encourages interdisciplinary studies and collaborative endeavors. As a community based institution, USC Aiken strives to meet the needs of the community.

Historically, there has been a significant demand for engineering degree opportunities among non-traditional students who are employed in the Central Savannah River Area. Recognizing this demand, USC Aiken has for more than twenty years offered a schedule of engineering courses which includes evening study at the freshman and sophomore levels. After completion of the courses that are available at the Aiken campus, both non-traditional and traditional students are faced with the need to continue their degree programs through daytime study at USC Columbia or some other institution that has a four year degree, a situation that usually presents the students with unsolvable logistic and financial problems. Traditional and non-traditional students who, due to financial, family, or other circumstances, are unable to relocate also find themselves with no alternative means of earning an engineering degree. We also believe that students educated in Aiken are more likely to stay in Aiken for their career in engineering.

The Bachelor of Science in Industrial Process Engineering program would play a key role in advancing the first goal of a recently revised strategic plan. Among other worthy goals, "USCA - Forward Together" (see Appendix A for a copy of the report) envisions a new emphasis on degree programs which serve the needs of industries in our market region. As a regional, comprehensive university, part of the mission (see Appendix B) of the University of South Carolina Aiken is "to provide quality undergraduate education as well as an array of graduate programs that meet the specific needs of citizens in its region."

The proposed program has been reviewed and approved by all of the internal and external oversight committees and boards. The University of South Carolina System, within which the University of South Carolina Aiken is a senior institution, has two oversight boards that must provide approval of academic programs: the USC Board of Trustees and the South Carolina Commission on Higher Education. Legal authority of the Board of Trustees of the University of South Carolina was established by virtue of Sections 59-117-10 et seq, Code of Laws of South Carolina (1976), as amended (Appendix C). As indicated in the USC Board of Trustees Bylaws (Appendix D), the USC System consists of a main campus in Columbia, three senior campuses (USC Aiken, USC Beaufort, and USC Upstate) and four regional campuses (USC Lancaster, USC Salkehatchie, USC Sumter and USC Union).

The South Carolina Code of Laws, Title 59, Chapter 103, Section 59-103-35 (Appendix E) stipulates that all South Carolina college and university programs require oversight approval from the South Carolina Commission on Higher Education.

Currently, USC Aiken offers a Bachelor of Science in Industrial Mathematics on its campus that is related to the proposed program. The program will reside within the Department of Mathematical Sciences. In addition to administrative support from the Dean of the College of Sciences and the Chair of the Department of Mathematical Sciences, an Engineering faculty member will serve as the program's coordinator.

3. ASSESSMENT OF NEED AND PROGRAM PLANNING/APPROVAL

Over the past several years Aiken County has developed into a technology center for business and government. The listing of businesses in the area that depend on technology include Savannah River National Laboratory, Savannah River Nuclear Solutions, Savannah River Remediation, Tognum America Inc., BAE Systems, South Carolina Gas and Electric; Kimberly-Clark's Consumer Health Services; Bridgestone Passenger and Truck Tire Facility; AGY Materials Corporation; Shaw Industries; Washington Safety Management Solutions Corporation; Hubbell Power Systems; and Harvey Ignition Systems Engineering Corporation. Collectively these industries employ over 16,000 individuals and each industry is driven by its technology innovations, which come from the employment of its engineering and scientific staff.

In Fall 2012, USC Aiken conducted a visioning process that involved over 700 stakeholders in the region. The purpose of the visioning process was to get input from stakeholders on what USCA does well, where it can improve, and where it should go in the future (see Appendix A). Through the visioning process seven themes occurred: grow the university, increase program/degree offerings, increase faculty/staff salaries, market the university more widely, improve the current funding/budget situation, improve community relations/increase partnerships, and revamp the current administrative/governance structure. Within each of these themes, numerous recommendations were made. For the increase program/degree offerings theme, an undergraduate engineering program was the top recommendation for every constituent group (i.e., students; faculty; administrators; and business, industry, and community leaders).

That same semester, USC Aiken hired Carnegie Communications to do a productivity demand study and an environmental scan for a series of possible degree programs, one of which was engineering (see Appendix F for a copy of the Environmental Scan Report). According to the study -- which drew heavily from the Bureau of Labor Statistics Occupational Employment Statistics Classification system --over the next 10 years, 68,000 new engineering jobs and 38,000 replacement jobs will become available. In the Central Savannah River Area, the Carnegie study indicates that there will be an estimated 333 engineering job openings (114 new, 219 replacement). Potential employers for our graduates will be URS Corporation, Savannah River Remediation, Energy Solutions, BUNTY LLC Engineered Solutions, Savannah River Nuclear Solutions, Southeastern Clay Company, Kimberly Clark, Bridgestone Tire, AGY Materials, Shaw Industries, and Tognum America, to name a few.

USC Aiken Substantive Change Prospectus: Industrial Process Engineering Program

A job search conducted on November 8, 2013 through Careerbuilder.com indicates more engineering related job openings as predicted by the Bureau of Labor Statistics. A search on that website yielded the following results:

Job Prompt	CSRA	South Carolina	Georgia	North Carolina
Industrial Engineer	8	181	270	171
Process Engineer	39	415	879	466
Mechanical Engineer	19	211	269	173

A search on the Accreditation Board for Engineering and Technology (ABET) program listing site indicates that there are 97 institutions within the United States that offer Industrial Engineering at the undergraduate level. Clemson is the only institution in South Carolina that is listed. There are two institutions in North Carolina (North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University and North Carolina State University in Raleigh) and one institution in Georgia (Georgia Institute of Technology). A search of the Southern Regional Education Board's Academic Common Market yielded no results for industrial engineering.

Apart from Clemson's ABET accredited Industrial Engineering program, Francis Marion University was approved for an Industrial Engineering program this past year. Of the two programs, Francis Marion's program is of similar size and scope to what is being proposed by the University of South Carolina Aiken. Because of the geographic distance between our campuses and the emphasis of regional recruitment, we don't believe we will be in direct competition.

In keeping with its history as a community focused institution, an engineering advisory group made up of engineer leaders in businesses such as Savannah River National Laboratory, Savannah River Nuclear Solutions, Savannah River Remediation, BAE Systems, Kimberly-Clark, Tognum America Inc., URS, and Bridgestone was formed in Fall of 2012. The charge assigned to this group was to help develop a program whose graduates they would want to hire for their businesses. This group aided in the development of the proposed baccalaureate industrial process engineering program in the 2012-13 academic year. The result was the development of the Industrial Process Engineering Program with a mission to prepare engineering students who have the technical knowledge and skills in mathematics, science, engineering and management to analyze and solve problems in today's team oriented business environment. Through a rigorous curriculum students will be provided multiple opportunities to apply knowledge and skills learned in the classroom and laboratory in real world settings.

This same committee also suggested the name of the degree. They felt it was important for the title to describe not only the course topics but the career destinations of our graduates. The industrial process engineers will be prepared to oversee, develop, enhance, and design processes found in industry relating to people, products, economics, and knowledge. The title for the degree indicates learning to achieve knowledge in the processes of industry from multiple viewpoints: mechanical, manufacturing, and business.

Based on indications of student interest and enrollment in our current pre-engineering program that averages 100 students each year, a conservative estimate of the number of students to be enrolled in the program are given in Table A.

Table A - PROJECTED TOTAL ENROLLMENT
YEAR	FALL		SPRING		SUMMER
	Headcount	Credit Hours	Headcount	Credit Hours	Headcount	Credit Hours
2016-17	90	1575	90	1525	0	0
2017-18	102	1755	102	1705	0	0
2018-19	102	1755	102	1705	0	0
2020-21	102	1755	102	1705	0	0

Based on surveying our students, we are making an assumption that approximately 60% of the sophomores will continue with us for their junior year; then most of those will succeed and continue to the senior year.

- Year 1 - 50 freshman, 25 sophomores, 15 juniors
(assumes 15 current sophomores in pre-engineering stay with the program)
- Year 2 – 50 freshman, 25 sophomores, 15 juniors, 12 seniors
- Year 3 – 50 freshman, 25 sophomores, 15 juniors, 12 seniors
- Year 4 - 50 freshman, 25 sophomores, 15 juniors, 12 seniors
- Year 5 - 50 freshman, 25 sophomores, 15 juniors, 12 seniors

We do not expect many, if any, transfers from other programs on campus. Similarly, we do not expect an influx of many transfer students into the program; principally because there are only two other programs in Industrial Engineering in the State.

The proposed program has been reviewed and approved by all of the internal and external oversight committees and boards:

4. DESCRIPTION OF THE CHANGE

The Industrial Process Engineering program has a structured curriculum that will provide an opportunity for local students to participate in a local 4-year engineering program; address a need as identified by local businesses and industries; and aid the economic development of the Central Savannah River Area by providing a program that can help attract and retain industries and engineers. The program's educational objectives are to:

1. Provide students with the technical knowledge and skills in mathematics, science, and engineering to analyze and solve problems;
2. Provide engineering students with a strong liberal arts background;
3. Provide students with practical experience and organizational skills, enabling them to interact and communicate both orally and in writing to others; and
4. Provide students with the skills to work effectively in cross-functional team environments.

With respect to student learning outcomes, upon completion of the program, students will:

1. Be able to apply knowledge of mathematics, science, and engineering;
2. Be able to design and conduct experiments, as well as to analyze and interpret data;
3. Be able to design a system, component, or process to meet desired needs within realistic constraints such as economic, environmental, social, political, ethical, health and safety, manufacturability, and sustainability;
4. Be able to function on multidisciplinary teams;
5. Be able to identify, formulate, and solve engineering problems;
6. Demonstrate an understanding of professional and ethical responsibility;
7. Be able to communicate effectively;
8. Understand the impact of engineering solutions in a global, economic, environmental, and societal context;
9. Recognize the need for engaging in life-long learning;
10. Demonstrate a knowledge of contemporary issues; and
11. Be able to use the techniques, skills, and modern engineering tools necessary for engineering practice.

Students will achieve these outcomes and educational objectives through a 129 credit hour, 4 year program; 53 of the credit hours will be in fulfillment of the general education core that covers knowledge of human cultures and the physical and natural world, intellectual and practical skills, personal and social responsibility, and integrative learning; 68 credit hours will fulfil major requirements; and 6 hours will be completed in major electives. The program aligns with the general educational objectives of all undergraduate programs at the university. Because USC Aiken already has the first two years of an Engineering program, only 15 new classes had to be developed; they are identified below in bold italicized font.

The credit value of each course is determined by the amount of formal instructional time per week for one semester. At least 700 minutes of instruction (and at least twice that for laboratory time) is expected per credit hour at the University of South Carolina Aiken. The semester hour credit for each course is included in each course description and will be published in the USC Aiken Undergraduate and Graduate Programs Bulletin. This policy, rooted in the Carnegie Unit, is standard within the USC system and is the norm at institutions on the semester system throughout the United States. Seminar courses, distance education courses, internet courses, internships, field classes, and other courses which do not share the traditional lecture/laboratory format require the same number of contact or instructional hours required for traditional lecture/laboratory classes.

The relationship between the program's student learning outcomes and the courses that make up the curriculum is shown in the curriculum map located on page 19.

Admission requirements to the engineering program will be the same as those of entering freshman at USC Aiken. High school course selection, standardized test scores, and an Admissions Index are all used to determine admissibility. Students must have taken the following in high school: English (4 units), mathematics (4 units), laboratory science (3 units), social science (3 units), foreign language (2 units), academic electives (4 units), and physical education or ROTC (1 unit).

Engineering majors must have a grade of “C” or better in all mathematics, science, and engineering courses. If a student fails to receive a “C” or better, they must repeat the courses until they receive a “C” or better.

To ensure the quality of the program and services, administrative oversight will fall within the responsibilities of the Dean of the College of Sciences and the Chair of the Department of Mathematical Sciences. With the department, and Engineering faculty member, Dr. Bethany Fralick, will serve as the program’s Coordinator (see Appendix H for Dr. Fralick’s curriculum vitae).

5. FACULTY AND SUPPORT STAFF

To provide the Industrial Process Engineering program, USCA will need to add two full-time, tenure-track faculty with terminal degrees in Industrial Process Engineering. A roster of faculty who will be teaching the major’s required classes along with the faculty who would teach the new technical electives is provided on page 22. Courses for the proposed program are presented in bold font; all other are classes taught in other programs or as part of the general education requirements.

Currently, USCA has one tenure track faculty member on staff who currently teaches the freshman and sophomore level engineering classes for our current two year program. The business/management classes (Engineering Economics and Finance, Supply Chain Management and Logistics, Business Relationships) will be taught by current faculty in the School of Business. The credentials of the Business faculty who will be teaching these classes are included on the roster; the classes they teach will be part of their teaching loads. The required statistics class (Statistical Quality Assurance) is currently offered through the Department of Mathematical Sciences. The credentials of the faculty member who teaches this class is also included on the roster. The teaching load for a full-time instructor, tenure track and tenured faculty at USC Aiken is 12 contact hours each fall and spring semester for a total of 24 contact hours per academic school year. This normally equates to 4 courses each semester. If necessary, qualified part-time faculty will be used to teach classes. The budget also includes funds to hire qualified part-time instructors, if necessary, to teach additional sections of general education classes.

The program will be housed in the Department of Mathematical Sciences which has an administrative assistant and a Chair who will provide administrative support and oversight to the proposed program. The Chair of the Department, Dr. Mohammad Hailat has a Ph.D. in Mathematics and a M.S in Industrial and Operations Engineering. A copy of his curriculum vitae is included in Appendix H. The department currently has 15 faculty members.

Support will be provided to all faculty for their research and professional development. All full-time faculty are allotted $400 of faculty development funds each year to support their research and travel to conferences. In addition to this amount, the university, through its partnership funds, has provided additional funding that faculty can apply for. This amount has averaged approximately $65,000/year over the past five years. Therefore faculty, on average, get approximately $800-$1000 for professional development activities.

6. LIBRARY AND LEARNING RESOURCES

The Gregg-Graniteville Library occupies a two-story 40,000 square foot building situated on the main university quadrangle. The collection contains over 211,251 volumes of books and print journals, over 79,896 pieces of microfilm and microfiche, and over 4088 volumes of media materials. The USC Aiken library has access to 252 databases, including those through DISCUS and PASCAL, with E-journals totaling 29,776. USC Aiken students have access to approximately 62,626 E-books. The Gregg-Graniteville Library is an official depository for Federal and South Carolina documents, with holdings of 58,569 print and digital titles. The library is open 78 hours per week with variations during exam periods, inter-sessions, summer terms, and holidays.

Current print monograph holdings in areas related to Engineering, subdivided by subject include:

The majority of the Engineering related collection (58%) was published between 2000 and 2010. 12% of the collection was published since 2010. Qualitatively, our current monographs collection is strongest in the areas of Sanitary Engineering, Bridge Engineering and Mining Engineering. Quantitatively our holdings are strongest in General/Civil Engineering and Electrical Engineering. Our current monographs collection needs to be strengthened to include more current and quality titles particularly in the areas of Mechanical and Electrical Engineering. To do so, the institution will allocate $5,000 in additional funds per year as indicated in section 9.

Current databases or e-journal packages with Engineering-related materials currently accessible to USCA students include:

- ACS Web (American Chemical Society)
- SciFinder Scholar
- Science Direct
- MathSciNet
- SpringerLink
- Web of Knowledge
- Wiley Online Library

Our electronic databases are not currently adequate for the proposed degree. To adequately support the degree and its emphasis on Mechanical Engineering, subscriptions to the following resources will be purchased:

- Compendex (via Elsevier's Engineering Village platform) = $28,904
- INSPEC (via Elsevier's Engineering Village platform) = $7,735
- Standards and Engineering Digital Library (SEDL) (from the American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM) = $16,200
- American Society of Mechanical Engineers (ASME) Journal Package = $8,511

The prices quoted here are for 2014. Database costs generally rise 3-6% annually, so these costs will be included in the estimated costs each year as presented in section 9.

Current journal holdings

The library currently subscribes directly to four serial subscriptions in the area of Engineering including:

- Chemical Engineering
- Civil Engineering
- IEEE Spectrum
- Mechanical Engineering

In addition to these titles, USCA faculty and students have access to approximately 1,428 other serial titles relevant to Engineering through our full-text databases and consortial journal packages.

Additional services

Using ILLIAD, a web-based Interlibrary Loan system, librarians fill requests for articles or documents that are scanned and transmitted via Ariel software. USC Aiken belongs to the KUDZU Consortium of southeastern libraries, providing delivery of items not available within the state to faculty and students within a few days.

The library maintains an active program of research assistance and instruction. The library faculty support classroom instruction in the disciplines and offer both general and course-specific library instruction. Instruction sessions are tailored to the needs of the course and the specific requirements of individual faculty members with the stated purpose of enabling all members of the college community to achieve.

USCA maintains a formal agreement (see Appendix I) with all universities and colleges in South Carolina, the Partnership among South Carolina Academic Libraries (PASCAL <http://pascalsc.org/>), which supports both consortia purchasing of databases and statewide borrowing of materials. PASCAL Delivers provides for reciprocal library borrowing among private and public colleges/universities throughout the state. It is supported by a statewide courier service which makes book deliveries to campuses five days a week.

Pacer Downs is staffed by a live-in Assistant Director and 12 Resident Assistants. The Intramurals Program at the University is founded on the philosophy that exercise and relaxation are vital to student development. The program is designed to offer a variety of challenging and enjoyable activities to every member of the student body. Activities include vigorous team sports such as football and basketball; competitive individual events such as table tennis, billiards, and one-on-one basketball; and non-competitive recreational activities. The University of South Carolina Aiken believes that through quality programs students can become effective leaders not only on campus but within the communities in which they live. Through Leadership Programs, training is provided for student leaders through an annual Student Leadership Retreat, workshops are conducted for student organization officers and advisors, and outstanding leaders are recognized at the student activities Leadership Award Banquet each April. The Student Activities Center is a focal point of campus life—providing comfortable lounge facilities, a cafeteria, and meeting and work areas for student organizations. There are more than 60 active student organizations on the campus offering opportunities for student involvement. Campus clubs and organizations include a variety of special interest groups, service groups, and social groups such as fraternities and sororities. Involvement in Student Government provides students the opportunity to participate in the decision-making process at USC Aiken. Campus-wide elections are held once during each academic year to fill SGA seats vacated on a rotating basis.

With the division of Information Technology, Computer Services assists faculty, staff and students in meeting their academic and administrative computing needs and coordinates telecommunications services. USC Aiken's primary student computing resources are located in the Business and Education Building where a lab with Windows and Macintosh computers and dedicated Macintosh and Windows classrooms are available. Staff and trained student assistants are available at the Help Desk to assist with computing needs throughout the year. Students have access to computer facilities in the Business and Education Building 24 hours-a-day, seven days-a-week using their USCA student ID card. Computer Services manages several Windows servers, providing the campus community with electronic mail, network printing, file sharing, www services, and network applications. A wireless network is also available for student use within all academic buildings and University housing.

8. PHYSICAL RESOURCES

As shown on the campus map (see Appendix J), the University of South Carolina Aiken operates and maintains physical facilities on a 453 acre campus that appropriately serve the needs of the educational programs, support services, and other mission-related activities of the institution. The total gross building footage is 907,604 square feet.

USCA has six buildings that house academic units. There are 41 classrooms, 5 auditoriums, 14 labs, and 8 computer classrooms that are designated as academic areas. All classrooms and auditoriums are wired for computers and have LCD projection systems. The 8 computer classrooms house 141 computers.

The program will be part of the Department of Mathematical Science which is housed in the Penland Building. Engineering classes will continue to be held in the Penland Building as they have for the past 25 years. Classroom space is adequate.

A classroom has been identified that will be outfitted with lab tables and electricity to accommodate for engineering activities. Funding for this modification will be a reallocation of internal resources as well as some external funding that has been raised for the program. Additional lab space is also available in the science building if needed.

The following materials/equipment/software will be purchased over the next few years to support the program:

- Software – Pro/ENGINEER (Creo Parametric), MatLab - $75,000

- Measuring Equipment - $25,000

- Laboratory Equipment - $65,000

- 3D Printer - $125,000

- Large Format Printer - $5,000

- Additional Equipment/materials to be identified - $50,000

No known critical physical resource problems exist that directly prevent the University of South Carolina Aiken from meeting its objectives. Current space allocated to any institutional function is adequate for the effective operation of that function. The South Carolina Commission on Higher Education conducts regular audits of space allocation and use. South Carolina Commission on Higher Education CHEMIS Facilities Reports , detailed statistics are monitored including but not limited to assignable area by function, capacity/enrollment ratios, station utilization and space factor ratios for classrooms, and square footage of academic and support facilities per FTE students. These data allow the university to determine its relative standing within the state of South Carolina with respect to key facilities-related indicators. They show that the facilities needs of the institution's educational programs, support services, and other mission-related activities are being appropriately served and that the current physical plant will provide adequate space for the Industrial Process Engineering program.

9. FINANCIAL SUPPORT

The University of South Carolina Aiken's Office of Financial Aid is responsible for administering federal, state, institutional, and private funding to assist students with their educational costs. For 2013-2014, the Office of Financial Aid awarded over $32 million in compliance with the Title IV Higher Education Act of 1998, its amendments and regulations. The majority of financial aid awards were federal Title IV funds.

There are no outstanding issues between the Department of Education and the University of South Carolina Aiken with regard to the administration of Title IV programs. The University submits a FISAP report to the Department of Education in a timely manner and has not been placed on a cost-reimbursement method of payment. The Institution has not been required to obtain a letter of credit in favor of the Department of Education. The Institution's current Program Participation Agreement is effective until 2016 (see Appendix K). There are no significant unpaid dollar amounts due to the Department of Education and the University is not aware of any regulatory infractions which would jeopardize Title IV funding. The most recent 3-year default rate for the Federal Student Aid program is 8.2% for fiscal year 2011.

The University has carefully examined the finances necessary to support this program. The estimated costs and sources of financing are provided in the following table.

The funding is based upon the following assumptions:

- We expect to maintain approximately 100 students in the program. To be conservative, we are assuming all students will be paying in-state tuition.
- Uses current tuition rate of $9018/year and 3% increase each year of program.
- Establishes a $100 majors fee for freshman/sophomores.
- Establishes a $300 majors fee for juniors/seniors
- Establishes a $10/credit hour lab fee for 100/200 level engineering courses
- Establishes a $25/credit hour lab fee for 300/400 level engineering courses

Funding for the program is from three sources; reallocation of current general revenue, tuition generated from engineering majors, and private sources of funding. Since USC Aiken already has a pre-engineering program, classroom and lab space already exists to support the program. The addition of two new faculty members will be accomplished by reallocating funds to convert a current instructor slot in mathematics to a tenure track engineering slot. The second new faculty member will be funded through reallocation of existing funds. These are reflected in the budget table.

To date USC Aiken has raised over $400,000 (URS and Savannah River Remediation) in support of the program to help purchase lab equipment and materials to support the upper level courses. Additionally USC Aiken has a pledge for $250,000 for an endowed chair. Once the program is approved, USC Aiken believes it will be able to raise significant additional funding to support the program. The following sources of funding have been identified:

$400,000 – pledged and partially paid from URS and Savannah River Remediation
$50,000 minimum annually – Savannah River Nuclear Solutions Engineering Scholarships
$72,000 - Engineering Program Endowment Fund**
$250,000 planned gift - Engineering Endowed Professorship**
$1,000 annually – Society for Mechanical Engineers
$25,000 – Engineering Scholarship Endowment**
$20,000 – Engineering Scholarship Endowment**
$10,000 – BAE Engineering Scholarship Endowment

** local citizens who have committed to these endowments

In addition, local business/industries have indicated they are willing to offer lab space if needed in the future.

10. EVALUATION AND ASSESSMENT

The University of South Carolina Aiken has a well-established process that identifies expected outcomes related to student learning, assesses the extent to which those outcomes are achieved through its educational programs, and effects curricular and programmatic improvements based upon the assessment results.

As the means for analyzing, evaluating, and improving the curriculum and the learning process, academic assessment at USC Aiken is an ongoing activity at multiple levels that focuses on the extent to which goals for learning outcomes are being met. Faculty in each program have the primary responsibility for determining appropriate educational outcomes which extend beyond student performance as registered by final course grades as well as the methods and instruments for evaluating the level at which the outcomes have been accomplished. Several programs have used the Major Field Tests (MFT) from Educational Testing Service (ETS) as one way of evaluating the capabilities of students in their programs. Many academic units have assessment committees that carefully examine their programs' goals, objectives, and results at departmental meetings.

Each academic unit implements an ongoing assessment program that clearly articulates goals and objectives for student learning in the major, measures these outcomes on a regular basis at several points in the program and in multiple ways, analyzes the findings, and uses the results for curricular improvements and adjustments. Each academic unit submits full reports on its assessment activities to the Academic Assessment Committee for major assessment, the General Education Committee for the common core, and the Graduate Advisory Council for graduate programs. Each of these groups are standing committee of Faculty Assembly, and serve in an advisory capacity for assessment of academic programs at USC Aiken. The Committees ensure that all assessment programs adhere to best practice and institutional policy. The use of such committees allow faculty to embrace their responsibility to monitor and provide peer-directed guidance on assessment activities across departments and schools. To facilitate a consistent review of programs across academic years, evaluative rubrics are used that not only standardizes the evaluative process but also serves as a means to facilitate discussions among Committee members and Department and School representatives. The rubrics allow faculty to know in advance what the Committee is looking for in a program review. Its use has facilitated the growth of an assessment-conscious culture on campus founded on best practices.

USC Aiken's planning and assessment process is broad-based, systematic, and appropriate to the institution. With input from all units, the process continues to evolve with the primary goal of providing excellent programs and services for students. All academic and administrative units participate in ongoing assessment activities and report how findings are used for improvements in annual program review reports. These reports are examined by the senior administrator responsible for each division and by Academic Council consisting of deans and department chairs. Changes based upon an examination of the collected data that require additional allocation of resources are carefully examined. An enterprise software system called TracDat provides the means through which administrators can collect data on similar requests to generate reports for consideration by various committees (e.g., the Campus Budget and Planning Committee or the Campus Technology Committee).

In addition to assessing student learning outcomes, department and schools annually track several other key indicators including the percentage of credit and contact hours that are taught by part-time faculty, teaching overloads, and average class size for lower, upper and graduate division classes across disciplines. Along with assessment data of student learning outcomes, these indicators are used by Academic Council in recommendations to allocate new full-time faculty slots.

For the new Engineering program, student learning outcomes will be assessed in a manner that is consistent with SACSCOC and ABET accreditation standards. The student learning outcomes for the program will be assessed each semester (fall, spring, summer) using both direct and indirect measures, such as in-class assessment instruments –e.g., course-embedded approaches, and rubrics of communication and other social skills, and project assignments – as well as surveys of entering freshmen, students upon completion of internships, graduating students, alumni and employers; and the Fundamentals of Engineering Exam Results.

USC Aiken Substantive Change Prospectus: Industrial Process Engineering Program

Programmatic assessment will also use both direct measures – such as employment data for graduates of the program – and indirect measures, including feedback from alumni and employers of our graduates, to determine how well the program is meeting the needs of the local community and beyond.

Assessment results will be discussed and reviewed annually. Any curriculum changes or pedagogical adjustments that are found to be necessary as a result of the assessment findings will be implemented by the faculty and future assessment data will then be reviewed to determine the effectiveness of any such changes in improving student learning or programmatic success.

USCA FORWARD TOGETHER VISIONING PROJECT REPORT OF RESULTS

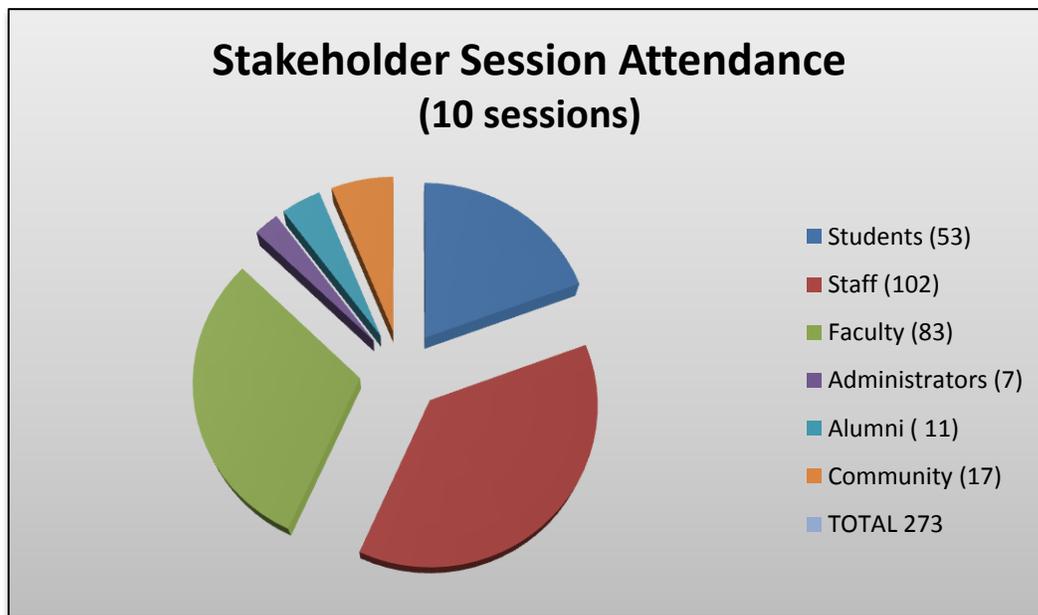

November 2, 2012

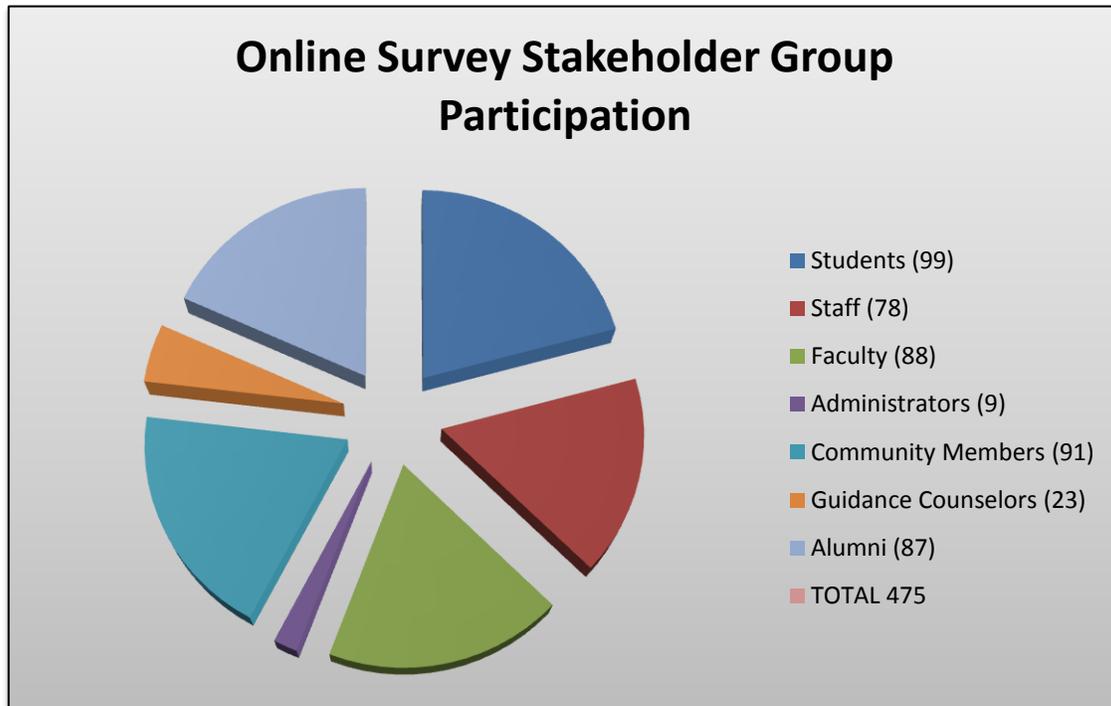

The Forward Together Vision Project was conducted in October 2012 as a way to generate input and feedback from USC Aiken stake holders on the strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats of the University and their ideas for the University’s “most desired future.” Ten stakeholder meetings were conducted over a period of approximately two weeks. In the sessions, a total of 273 administrators, alumni, community members, faculty, staff and students responded to a set of questions regarding the current and future status of the University.

These groups and area guidance counselors were also invited to take the on-line survey. A total of 475 persons participated in this process. Some individuals who attended a stakeholder session also took the online survey. Because the on-line surveys were taken anonymously, it is not possible to know to what extent the numbers are duplicated.

This report summarizes the input from each stake holder group in two ways. An overall summary is provided for the themes that emerged across all stake holder groups from both the stakeholder sessions and the on-line survey. Also, each survey item is summarized by stake holder group.

A total of 748 responses were collected from stake holders in the Forward Together Visioning Project. The distribution of attendance by group is indicated below:

THEMES

Although there were slight variations within each group, the following issues emerged across all groups as themes that will need to be addressed to move the University forward. The general themes represent both stakeholder sessions and the on-line survey for this process. The themes are presented in order of frequency of response.

General Themes

1. There is much to be proud of: Although many suggestions were made that were aimed at improving USCA, there emerged a common thread of pride and love for the institution. Responses to survey items were offered in a positive tone and with a spirit of genuine concern about the future of the campus. Comments made in the focus sessions were equally positive and hopeful. Many participants in the Visioning process expressed their gratitude for being included in the process and for the solicitation of their input.
2. Grow the University: This theme emerged as the number one priority for all stakeholder groups. Since all stake holder groups also held the belief that USCA’s small size and caring culture is one of its primary assets, there was consensus in the concern that the University’s growth should not change this culture. There is a united call for “planned growth. Based on survey responses from all groups, this planned growth should include recruiting students who can meet higher admissions standards and targeting aggressive recruitment efforts to an expanded geographical area.

3. Increase program/degree offerings: Similar to the “Grow the University” theme, all stakeholder groups emphasized the importance of increasing the number of undergraduate and graduate programs. Engineering was the most frequently requested degree in all stakeholder groups. The most frequently requested graduate programs were in business, education, nursing and science. Recommendations related to increasing program offerings also included adding evening courses, online course and offering programs that cater to non-traditional students.
4. Increase faculty/staff salaries and incentives: There was general consensus related to the need to address the relatively low salaries of the faculty and staff. Responses in this area were usually paired with concerns about the lack of career advancement opportunities for staff, heavy teaching loads for faculty and the need to offer competitive salaries to recruit qualified faculty.
5. Market the University more widely: There was a general concern that USCA is not sufficiently “branded.” Community members commented that many still view the University as a commuter campus. Other comments expressed concern that too little emphasis is placed on the national rankings and telling USCA’s story of offering a quality education in a small student-centered climate.
6. Improve the current funding/budget situation: There aren’t too many problems that having more money can’t remedy. The inadequate operating budget has resulted in too few scholarships for students, outdated facilities and technology, an inability to address faculty and staff compensation issues, etc. With the exception of raising tuition (there was strong sentiment from students in this area) suggestions were made to increase funding through increasing student enrollment, increased alumni giving, grants, entrepreneurial activity (e.g. utilizing the campus in the summer) and cost saving measures.
7. Improve community relations/increase partnerships: Many participants recommended that effort should be made to improve relationships in the community, particularly with local businesses and industry and the schools. Suggestions ranged from enhancing internship opportunities for students to increasing faculty and staff visibility as subject matter experts and consultants.
8. Revamp the current administrative/governance structure: Both faculty and staff expressed a great deal of frustration related to the current governance structure of the University. Frustrations included the amount of time required to make decisions and the perceived ineffectiveness of the current Faculty Assembly structure. Suggestions included revamping the “Monday Group” concept, adding Deans, moving to a Faculty Senate structure and moving decision making down to lower levels.

SPECIFIC THEMES

In addition to the common themes listed on the previous page, some issues were frequently cited within specific stakeholder groups. They are as follows:

Administrators

The University needs a strategic focus and identification of its niche

Alumni

There is a need for better communication and more frequent contact with alumni

There should be more family focused activities offered

Parking is a challenge

Increase multicultural activities and organizations

Community

Improved relations/connections/partnerships with the business community

Streamlined process for admission and transfer

Beautify the campus

Faculty

Faculty need research and grant writing support

Little attention is given to part-time faculty

General education requirements are too complicated

The process for making decisions takes too long

The faculty evaluation process needs revision

Issues related to poor performance among faculty go unaddressed

Guidance Counselors

Streamlined process for admitting first and transfer students

Lower tuition

Offer more scholarships and financial aid resources

Staff

There are currently few opportunities for career advancement

Staff morale is low because of the heavy workload and too few resources

Would like more opportunities to connect with other staff and faculty

Better food in the cafeteria

Foster a more inclusive environment

Students

Better food in the cafeteria

More parking spaces

Better communication/more information about events and requirements

More scholarships and financial aid resources

Issues related to poor performance among faculty go unaddressed

Training for faculty in cultural diversity and technology

More and better tutors, especially in math

RECOMMENDATIONS

This is an exciting time in the life of the USCA community. The Forward Together Visioning Project has provided an opportunity for all stakeholders to have a voice in deciding the future direction of the campus. The themes that emerged represent the opinions and the passion of each group. While there was much diversity in the responses, there was more agreement among the groups about the strengths of the University and about what areas could use improvement.

USCA's challenge at this point is to take the wealth of information that has been provided by its stakeholders and set strategic priorities for the future. It is recommended that the Chancellor and senior leadership team begin a goal setting process to create a strategic roadmap that identifies the plans and action items to be undertaken over the next 3-5 years. This goal-setting process should include an identification of the resources that will be necessary to achieve each step and a plan for acquiring those resources. Also, this goal setting process should be inclusive and again involve all stakeholders, to the extent possible.

SUMMARY OF RESPONSES BY ITEM FOR THE ON-LINE SURVEY

In most cases, responses for each item are listed by frequency of response, most to least. Some respondents belonged to more than one group (e.g. both staff and alumni). As a result, the responses from these persons were counted in more than one group. Because the on-line surveys were taken anonymously, it is not possible to know how many responses were duplicated.

FOR COMMUNITY MEMBERS

Question 6: As a community member, what two or three issues might USCA target to enhance our value as a resource that serves the needs of the community?

1. Encourage the students to volunteer and get involved in the community
2. Offer some professional training (e.g. An 8 hour excel or word class); assistance to small business start-ups continuing education for seniors and CPA Continuing Education credit courses for local accountants
3. Expand majors and offer user friendly graduate program (engineering - 4 year degree)
4. More "face time" with the high schools to make sure students there know what is available in Aiken
5. More involvement in the Arts
6. Look for the bridges between industries: tourism/history, agri-business, manufacturing, technology, healthcare. Build internships with each of these industries for your existing programs. Mature the relationships to align future course offerings with industry needs
7. Offer more after hours/nontraditional classes
8. The gym, lifelong learning, art--all of these are good but could be improved
9. Faculty (especially the Business School) need to be more involved with community services to better understand services and programs offered in a "real life setting". For instance, the sociology courses taught are great but often the student leaves the university and finds that the experiences in the work setting are not nearly as textbook as those on the ground. Marketing programs are another example of this. Employers continually hear that "this is not what they taught us to expect". Continue to have professors and administrators be visible as members of community groups

10. Offering classes for a reasonable price
11. Build a road to the D parking lot from the bypass
12. Increase math and technology awareness of the students..
13. Preparatory/remedial education for local students; PE Exam classes conducted locally;
14. Add programs that fit needs of the area, while keeping its focus on the liberal arts
15. Opening its Library to the community.
16. Reviving the Faculty Speakers Bureau.
17. Keep up the Science Center and activities - e.g. SEED, planetarium, special courses, etc.
18. Establish more of a presence for the Business School
19. The faculty, beyond the Chancellor, needs to be more visible and engaged with the local community.
20. Bring more concerts to the Convocation Center
21. Conduct job fairs for industry to match up students with opportunities, not just locally, but across our corporate organizations. Continue to push and support intern programs which are great for the students and industry

Question 7: Given the impact of a dramatic 70% decrease in state appropriations for higher education over the past two decades, the institution must take action to recover the budget through other means. Question 12: From your perspective, are there policies, procedures or aspects of USCA's organizational structure that create challenges in the areas of efficiency and effectiveness?

Administrators

1. We need a provost. Most of Monday Group's work should be done by a provost who is committed to the academic mission of the place.
2. We need academic deans (HSS, Sciences, Professional Schools). Both of those things would give some rationality to our structure.
3. We need to renew our faculty governance from the bottom up, create a faculty senate that can deliberate intelligently about important decisions.
4. Everything should not have to have consensus from all campus administrators before moving forward; the Chancellor should be able to make decisions without getting consensus from the Monday Group.
5. It's sometimes hard to get information from various university offices, largely because we are so small and often only one or two people have the necessary information.
6. Program review process is broken, does not work. Process to get new faculty, staff and equipment etc is difficult at best.

7. I think that public safety should be moved out from under Dr. Deb.
8. I think we should be more student friendly and welcoming to our students. I think we need to provide more student services and programming.
9. Monday Group may be too large for efficiency and it gives the appearance of inequity among all of the work divisions on campus which I don't think is the correct perception.

Faculty

1. Faculty Assembly structure is inefficient. We need to look to a Faculty Senate.
2. The Monday Group structure is outdated and needs to be replaced
3. We have grown to a point at which we need academic deans there have to be ways for staff members to advance in their jobs (not just faculty)
4. We need a provost. Most of Monday Group's work should be done by a provost who is committed to the academic mission of the place
5. Student evaluations of teachers are not validated
6. The faculty is largely over-burdened with responsibilities not related to teaching and research

Other Faculty Responses

- Better communication within the pool of full time faculty and the adjunct faculty.
- It's sometimes hard to get information from various university offices
- Purchasing supplies/equipment difficult which compromises research success
- If an instructor (adjunct) provides a greater money return (in relationship to compensation) then funds should be made available to keep enrollment at a higher level.
- I think that USCA has to seriously consider the implications of not providing ANY paid maternity (or paternity) leave for faculty. This does not align with the policy for faculty who are on federal grants, and as a faculty member of childbearing age, this is the one thing that would cause me to think about leaving USCA.
- I spend far too much of my time either fighting technology or switching from program to program to extract the information that I need.
- The increasing demand for research decreases my effectiveness in the classroom
- More clarity and transparency would be helpful
- We don't seem to be doing a good job of grooming people to take over as unit heads, and where are the women and minority unit heads
- Too many layers of bureaucracy, too many forms and too much paperwork.
- Program review process is broken, does not work. Process to get new faculty, staff and equipment etc is difficult at best
- Don't build any more buildings, but instead focus on novel ways of instruction
- The connection to Columbia and some of the administrative policies may serve a campus of 30,000 students but don't necessarily work on a campus of 3000

Staff

1. Management and decision making at USCA seems to be top heavy. Sometimes the decision making process has to involve too many people there are too many channels to go through to get anything done in a timely manner
2. Too much bureaucracy, lack of creative/innovative thinking, reluctance to take risks
3. there have to be ways for staff members to advance in their jobs
4. Purchasing is a challenge, it's hard to get equipment needed without jumping thru hoops
Our university purchasing cards are useless and the whole offer that we can get a diners club card in our name that we're responsible for paying is ridiculous
5. More paperwork than I've ever seen before, the inconsistency of paperwork, having to re-learn processes when they change up every year or so
6. The transfer credit process is terrible. Our admissions standards are difficult to understand, and may not be the best to serve the population we serve
7. The amount of control USC Columbia has over decisions we make on campus
8. Limited amount of academic scholarships to recruit new students, and these are offered late in the recruiting process
9. We should be paperless and have a comprehensive safety and sustainability program involving all on campus
10. Policies aren't explained well and employees often assumed that they can't voice a concern without going up the "chain of command"

Other Staff Responses

- There are some structures in place that makes it seems as though you are being directly supervised by multiple people and there is either miscommunication or no communication among anyone
- We go to much by the "book" when it comes to USC Columbia policies. We are different in many ways and should have more flexibility to change
- I think that a lack of communication hinders efficiency. There are some instances in which some offices/people are performing identical or similar tasks and are missing opportunities to streamline their work
- Reorganize offices so that all transcript questions can be answered in one place
- Too many events are on the same day. Possibly enforcing another period to turn in facility requests
- Should be nonsmoking campus
- An office for each student organization would be nice
- ICE Events are a waste of time

Students

1. Staff members need ways to advance in their jobs
2. There needs to be cross training across administrative areas so there is great understanding of how policies and procedures effect each area differently.
3. Sending everything to Cola! PR's, expenses, transcripts...
4. People don't know the right people to ask to get answers to questions or solutions to problems.
5. Yes, there are information securities policies that are open to interpretation that have no procedures therefore leaving the policies open to unnecessary debate.
6. Work flow and data flow are not documented so there is unnecessary duplication of work.
7. There's too much "that's not my job" and not enough "let me help you find the right person"

Question 13: Please feel free to share any other opinions or views that you think we need to consider. (Responses in this section are generally unedited, however similar responses may have been combined)

Administrators

1. I love working for this university. I would love to see us realize our fullest potential.
2. The salaries and number of employees do not increase to help the work load issues. We give our all because we are dedicated to this campus but we are tired and at a breaking point.
3. I think we need to offer new programs that are both strong and interesting. This will help attract more students and retain those we have.
4. Stronger students will make the teaching/research endeavor more rewarding, pull weaker students forward and increase retention.

Alumni

1. I am proud to be an Alum!
2. I feel that USCA is jumping by leaps and bounds every year, great job
3. Salaries need to be more in line with other universities within the USC SysBetter get rid of that liberal slant and propaganda

5. The low tuition is a huge incentive to parents!
6. More advertisement may help
7. Get football
8. As an integral part of the university, the Ruth Patrick Science Education Center provides

- service to the campus and community, has the potential to attract new undergraduates, and offers opportunities for pre-service teachers to observe exemplary teaching
9. Establish a P.R. Club - Ambassadors to represent the excellent youth at the University and their participation in the Aiken Community.
  10. Reward loyalty and aggressively recruit minorities to work on campus
  11. A vibrant university should be a hub of ideas, a blend of cultures and open doors to young people that they might never have known to exist.

Faculty

1. Faculty salaries and work load are issues that must be addressed if we want to move forward.
2. Staff need ways to get ahead.
3. I hope you strongly consider the ramifications of greatly increasing enrollment, especially if this involves greatly increasing course sizes. Large courses completely change how we can teach, the types of assignments and exams we can give and our ability to give our students the attention they deserve.
4. If online courses become standard, faculty that have to develop and teach these courses need some sort of a course release to do so.
5. I was talking to a cop on the USC campus about all the insane drinking and behavioral problems in the dorms there. USCA does not have these problems - not even close. One of the reasons proposed why is because our students do not feel as anonymous as the USC students. Our students feel more accountable for their actions because the staff and faculty know who they are, we know their names, and we have them in our classes. This is because we are a small university. Keep this in mind.
6. I would just add that I think that people are participating in the visioning process out of a sense of hope that maybe this time will be different (those here for some time have been through several of these, to little avail). I think that morale could take a real turn if nothing comes of it.

7. This is a great learning environment but we as a University must look for ways of staying ahead of the curve when it comes to education in areas of technology
8. I am taking a "wait & see" approach to change with Dr. Jordan. Ask me in a year!
9. Please increase the pay for adjunct instructors commensurate with enrollment.
10. We need to be careful to remember that we are BETTER at MANY of the things we do.
11. We need to grow, now, or we're in trouble.
12. I have taught here at USCA for over 20 years, and I have always considered it to be an honor and a privilege to hold a position here. To be able to teach at an institution that so values teaching makes coming to school every day a joy!
13. I am proud of USCA.
14. Need a lot more money for student scholarships. And have the bookstore sell books at cost so students don't have to share books or order from Chubb or Amazon.
15. I love working for this university. I would love to see us realize our fullest potential. This university has spent a great deal of time talking about how they care about students, faculty and staff and yet the salaries and number of employees does not increase to help the work load issues. We are tired and at a breaking point. We give our all because we are dedicated to this campus.
16. I am really excited about our future! We have the best group of faculty I have ever had the privilege of working with, so there is truly nothing we cannot accomplish.
17. Higher education will look very different in 5-10 years - just look at K-12 and the explosion of the "virtual classroom" as well as the success of for-profit HE institutions. Recruit Hispanic populations actively - the new majority.
18. USCA does everything it can to recognize all of its constituent groups except one. USCA never recognizes long service to its more senior employees.
19. The planning system seems to be really whacked, with requests having to be placed 12 months or more before the need can be discussed, reviewed, fulfilled or denied. Then there is usually a delay of months before the actual deployment of the person, place or thing. In the life of computers, this is absurd.
20. We have the brain power, the strengths, the energy, and the compassion to make this an extraordinary university. All we need is leadership at all levels.

Staff

1. SALARIES need to be HIGHER!!! Our salaries need to be more in line with other universities within the USC System. Close the large salary gap between administrative staff and directors and upper level management. Improve salaries for those employees who now make less than 35K.

2. Staff need ways to get ahead.
3. I do feel USCA has such a potential to grow and prosper over the coming years.
4. I do feel we need to spark more energy and excitement on campus to make our students feel proud to be at USCA which will then keep them here longer.
5. Retention and graduation rates should be a huge emphasis and I think we have the capability to improve both of those areas.
6. Parking decks where lots C and D are would be fabulous.
7. Have you considered changing the name of the "Monday Group" to something else?
8. I think it is important to let the people you hire to do their job without micromanaging them!
9. Stories of teachers not caring, or getting ripped off isn't going to help students come to this school.
10. As an integral part of the university, the Ruth Patrick Science Education Center provides service to the campus and community, has the potential to attract new undergraduates, and offers opportunities for pre-service teachers to observe exemplary teaching.
11. I love being an alumnus of and working at USC Aiken and will always be a Pacer.
12. Tough job getting anything done that Columbia thinks will compete with them.
13. Improve technology on campus for staff so that we can do our jobs more efficiently and effectively.
14. I really hope that there is a CHANGE because there are ALOT of WONDERFUL individuals here and we are employed here but unfortunately we lost because people due to salary and not being able to advance. I feel that if you value and invest in your employees that they will stay and will look forward to continue providing the best services to the potential students, current students, and the community!
15. Although change is sometimes scary for some, it is needed.
16. Every employee needs specific goals to participate in growth of this university.
17. We are all adults working at this great institution. No one has the right to bully a coworker.
18. As I have said in this survey, I have been here for 32 years and I HATE the thought of having to retire. I want to see this university grow and improve every day. This place should be the center piece of the community, a place that everyone on campus and in the community are proud of and proud to be associated with and I believe the energy from a larger student body could be contagious.
19. I think staff morale is becoming an issue. There is a lot of staff on campus who feel undervalued and underappreciated. They feel like faculty take advantage of them or think them inferior because they don't have a PhD. Faculty get their pay increases automatically in addition to state salary increases while staff work harder with less and get nothing. For lower salary ranges, a 3% increase does nothing when there are also increases in retirement and health premiums.
20. The best possible model for any community is when education, business and government come together to take advantage of opportunities or to solve problems. Many more of these partnerships need to occur. Those relationships need to be more formalized. Incentives can be provided to faculty/staff to participate in these partnerships.

Students

(#12 on their survey)

1. More towards disabled, elderly and handicapped people to make the University suited for them. I had to transfer from USC Columbia because I couldn't afford it.
2. Cut the Pacer stuff and start rooting for THE GAMECOCKS.
3. Graduate Programs
4. I would greatly appreciate some consideration from the maintenance staff and lawn management with driving their vehicles in the quad where people WALK.
5. for military men and women who have traveled the world and fought for our country, the ICE credits should be optional.
6. Have dancing classes.
7. I think that the writing portfolio is a waste of time, money, and resources.
8. Please do the right thing by science and don't fall into servitude of local corporations
9. Most of the student life tends to focus on Greek life. Giving more focus and a more equal spreading of funds to other organizations would more this university into a better direction.
10. Better Parking.
11. The orientation for incoming transfer/non-traditional students should provide guidance toward the uses of available resources such as writing labs, tutoring, black board, etc.
12. Free student transportation around town on public transportation.

ADDITIONAL QUESTIONS FOR GUIDANCE COUNSELORS

Question 5: As a local guidance counselor, what two or three things might USCA do to help you and students at your school?

1. There is a need for financial aid information for parents and students. SC Student Loan use to provide great state scholarship brochures that are no longer available due to budget cuts. Many parents like publications with general qualifications for Life, Palmetto Fellows, etc.
2. Dual enrollment, more opportunities for high school students to come on campus to see what college life is like, maybe a "Pre College" experience where students come for a summer program and gain University credit.
3. Dual enrollment
4. Continue to do what they are already doing---- -continue to hold our senior college nights - continue to come and meet with our students throughout the year -continue the efficiency and excellent communication regarding the dual enrollment program.
5. Be more visible on campus. Send flyers to counselors that can be distributed to all CP 11th graders.

6. Be more visible in the school and area.
7. Help with programs in the evening and lunchroom visits.
8. You already do what I need.
9. continue the financial aid nights continue the freshman Fridays
10. I believe that USCA is doing all the "right" things for us - excellent communication, availability of admissions officer (Ally) for enrollment and college nights, and concurrent enrollment opportunities.
11. I believe USCA provides sufficient support to local guidance counselors. The staff at USCA is very friendly and willing to communicate with myself and my students.
12. On-campus financial aid workshops General college information workshops
13. Doing everything they can right now. Excellent job!
14. USCA is very responsive to local counselors and provides opportunities for them to know their campus and their focus. My only recommendation is for admissions folks to spend a little more time on the high school campus.
15. 1. Set up a date and come out to the high school to talk to seniors who are interested in going to USC-A. It used to be done but staff changed and it stopped. 2. Continue sending out staff to generate interest in Concurrent Classes at USC-A. This has helped a tremendous amount. 3. Advertise more the Fridays for future students to come to.
16. See the answer to question #3.
17. Donate tickets to ballgames that we could use as rewards. Promote the feeling that USCA is where they want to be.
18. More help to parents with the financial aid application
19. New Major Offerings
20. Start working with juniors, perhaps setting up information centers during lunch breaks.
21. Continue to visit the school to relay the importance of education.
22. Provide written information and personal service. Be available to high school students and parents to answer question (especially for those who are the first in the family to attend college).
23. Allow high school students to visit your campus to learn more about the college experience as well as what USCA has to offer.

Question 6: What additional degree programs would you suggest to serve our region and local industry?
---

1. A full 4 year engineering program
2. Masters in Nursing, Nuclear Energy, Engineering, Equine studies
3. Graduate/Masters Level programs in Business, Education, Leadership, Administration held on campus Graduate programs in education (EdS and PhD programs in Guidance and Administration)
4. Medical programs for professional degrees
5. Pharmacy, Engineering, Quality Control, Construction Management, Pre-Vet Program that is not marine science, but prepares students large and small animal vet programs.
6. Design, Interior/Fashion

7. More space in the nursing program and increase size of nursing program
8. Golf course management or related areas.
9. Offer other Allied Health programs. Radiology and imaging.
10. Piedmont Tech has a great program at the Saluda Campus in Forestry/Agriculture/Natural Resources. However, there is not a local 4 year in state school that offers these majors for this area.
11. STEM

ARTICLE 3.

AUXILIARY FACILITIES REVENUE BONDS

SECTION 59-117-210. Purpose; authorization.

(A) The General Assembly finds that it is desirable to provide continuing and general statutory authority for the University of South Carolina to incur debt for, among other things, the purposes of providing funds to acquire, construct, renovate, and equip certain revenue-producing auxiliary facilities, which debt is secured by a pledge of the revenues derived from the operation of some or all of the facilities. The University of South Carolina has demonstrated need for additional funds to provide for acquisition, construction, renovation, and equipping of these facilities. These facilities are needed to replace or renovate aging facilities and to provide additional facilities all to the end that the educational environment at the University of South Carolina will be enhanced for the benefit of present and potential students at the University of South Carolina.

(B) Consideration has been given to this need and to the methods of funding it. It has been determined to be in the best interests of the people of this State to authorize the University to acquire, construct, renovate, and equip additional facilities and to incur indebtedness for these purposes which is payable from the revenues derived from the operation of these facilities to the extent and under the conditions provided for in this article.

SECTION 59-117-220. Definitions.

As used in this article:

- (1) "Bond" or "bonds" means any note, bond, installment contract, or other evidence of indebtedness issued pursuant to this article.
- (2) "University" means the University of South Carolina.
- (3) "Facilities" means any or all of the following facilities operated to provide for the students, faculty, or staff at the University: dining or food service facilities; laundry facilities; canteen facilities; vending machines; convenience stores; any other facilities for the sale of sundry items; health services; book stores; parking lots and vehicle registration; and all furniture, furnishings and equipment in them, which are now owned by the University, or which may be acquired by the University for any of these purposes.
- (4) "Revenues" of any facilities means the entire receipts of the University from the operation of the facilities. 'Net revenues' means these receipts reduced by the necessary expenses for operation and maintenance of the facilities.
- (5) "Board" means the State Budget and Control Board.
- (6) "Trustees" means the Board of Trustees of the University or any successor body.

SECTION 59-117-230. Trustees authorization; acquisition of facilities; bond refunds.

The trustees are authorized to acquire additional facilities and to improve and renovate existing facilities to the extent they determine to be necessary, and the proceeds of bonds authorized by this article are made available for that purpose. The trustees also are authorized to refund bonds that may from time to time be outstanding pursuant to this article by exchange or otherwise.

SECTION 59-117-240. Issuance of bonds; limit.

Upon receiving the approval of the board and upon review by the Joint Bond Review Committee, the trustees may from time to time borrow such sums as may be necessary to accomplish the purpose of this article and to evidence these borrowings by bonds issued pursuant to this article in such aggregate principal amount as they determine, except that other provisions of this article to the contrary notwithstanding, there may not be outstanding at any time bonds issued pursuant to this article in excess of twenty-five million dollars.

SECTION 59-117-250. Funding of bonds; security, generally.

Bonds issued pursuant to this article must be payable from the revenues or the net revenues derived by the University from these facilities as designated by the trustees with respect to the bonds. The trustees may abandon the use of any portion of the facilities or sell or dispose of any portion of the facilities upon receipt of a written recommendation by the chief financial officer of the University to the effect that the action will not adversely affect the ability of the University to discharge its obligations to the holders of bonds issued pursuant to this article and upon the further conditions as prescribed in the resolution of the trustees providing for the issuance of bonds. The bonds issued pursuant to this article may be further secured by the additional pledges of other revenues or fees of the University as it may be authorized to grant pursuant to other laws of this State.

SECTION 59-117-260. Bonds not guaranteed by State; trustees not personally liable.

The faith and credit of the State may not be pledged for the payment of the principal and interest of the bonds, and there must be on the face of each bond a statement plainly worded to that effect. Neither the trustees nor any other person signing the bonds is personally liable for them.

SECTION 59-117-270. Bond specifications; issuing resolutions.

In order to avail themselves of the authorizations set forth in this article, the trustees shall adopt resolutions providing for the issuance of bonds of the University, within the limitations mentioned in this article which must prescribe the tenor, terms, and conditions of the bonds. The bonds must be issued as serial or term bonds, maturing in equal or unequal amounts, at such times and on such occasions as the trustees determine. The last maturing bonds of any issue must be expressed to mature not later than fifty years from their date, and the first maturing bonds of any issue, issued pursuant to this article, falls due within five years from their date. They must bear such rates of interest, payable on such occasion, as the trustees prescribe, and the bonds must be in such denominations, payable in such medium of payment, and at such place as such resolutions prescribe. All bonds may be issued with a provision permitting their redemption on any interest payment date before their respective maturities. Bonds made subject to redemption before their stated maturities may contain a provision requiring the payment of a premium for the privilege of exercising the right of redemption, in such amount or amounts as the trustees prescribe in the resolutions authorizing their issuance. All bonds that are subject to redemption must contain a statement to that effect on the face of each bond. The resolutions authorizing their issuance must contain provisions specifying the manner of call and the notice of call that must be given.

SECTION 59-117-280. Tax exempt status.

The bonds authorized by this article and all interest to become due on them have the tax exempt status prescribed by Section 12-1-60.

SECTION 59-117-290. Who may invest in bonds.

It is lawful for all executors, administrators, guardians, and fiduciaries, all sinking fund commissions, the board, as trustee of the South Carolina Retirement System, and all other governmental entities within this State to invest any monies in their hands in the bonds.

SECTION 59-117-300. Execution of bonds and coupons; registration as to principal and interest.

The bonds and coupons, if any, attached to the bonds, are executed manually or by facsimile in the name of the University in the manner and by persons as the trustees from time to time determine, and the seal of the University must be affixed to or impressed or reproduced on each bond. Any coupons attached to the bonds must be authenticated by the facsimile signature of one or more of the persons signing the bonds. The bonds, in the discretion of the trustees, may be registerable as to principal and interest on books kept for them by or on behalf of the University, including by a corporate registrar. The delivery of the executed bonds is valid notwithstanding changes in officers or in the seal occurring after the execution. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the bonds, in the discretion of the trustees, may be issued as fully registered noncertificated book-entry securities.

SECTION 59-117-310. Sale; advertisement; discounts.

The bonds must be disposed of in such manner as the trustees determine, except that no sale, privately negotiated without public advertisement, may be made unless the approval of the board is obtained. If the trustees elect to sell the bonds at public sale, at least one advertisement of them must appear in some newspaper of general circulation in this State not less than seven days before the date fixed for the opening of bids. The bonds may be sold at such discount or for such premium as may be determined by the trustees or their designee as being in the best interest of the University.

SECTION 59-117-320. Trustees' powers for purposes of securing principal and interest of bonds.

To the end that the payment of the principal and interest of the bonds authorized by this article is secured adequately, the trustees of the University may:

(1) issue bonds in such amount within the limitations provided for in this article, as the trustees consider necessary. It is lawful for the trustees to use a portion of the principal proceeds derived from any sale of bonds, except bonds issued to effect refunding of outstanding bonds, to meet the payment of interest on the bonds for a period equal to the period of construction of the facilities to be financed with the proceeds of such bonds, plus a period not exceeding six months. It is recognized by the General Assembly that until the facilities to be constructed with the proceeds of the loan are completed an undue burden may be imposed upon the existing revenues at that time;

(2) pledge the revenues or the net revenues of the facilities as designated by the trustees in connection with the issuance of the bonds, whether then or after that time to be existing and to pledge any otherwise available gifts, grants, or donations to the University for the payment of the principal of and interest on the bonds as they respectively mature. However, any surplus of the revenues or net revenues available after the payment of costs of operation and maintenance of the facilities and of debt service on the bonds, and the establishment of any debt service reserve obligation under the proceedings providing for the issuance of the bonds, is placed in a contingency and improvement fund for the facilities in order to restore depreciated or obsolete items of the facilities, to make improvements to the facilities, to defray the cost of unforeseen contingencies with regard to the facilities, to prevent defaults under such bonds, or to redeem any of the bonds;

(3) further secure the bonds with a pledge of any additional revenues or fees of the University as may be authorized under other laws of this State;

(4) covenant that no facilities owned by the University may be used free of charge, or to specify and limit the facilities which may be used free of charge;

(5) covenant to establish and maintain a system of rules as will insure the continuous use and occupancy of the facilities, whose revenues are pledged to secure any bonds;

(6) covenant that an adequate schedule of charges be established and maintained for the facilities designated by the trustees, whose revenues or net revenues are pledged to secure the bonds, to the extent necessary to produce sufficient revenues to:

(a) pay the cost of operating and maintaining the facilities, whose revenues or net revenues are pledged for the payment of the bonds, including the cost of fire, extended coverage and use, and occupancy insurance;

(b) pay the principal and interest of the bonds as they respectively become due;

(c) create and at all times maintain an adequate debt service reserve fund to meet the payment of the principal and interest; and

(d) create and at all times maintain an adequate reserve for contingencies and for major repairs and replacement.

(7) covenant against the mortgaging or disposing of the facilities designated by the trustees, whose revenues or net revenues are pledged for the payment of the bonds, and against permitting or suffering any lien to be created on them, equal or superior to the lien created for the benefit of such bonds. The trustees are empowered to discontinue the use of or demolish obsolete facilities and to reserve the right, under the terms they prescribe, to issue additional bonds on a parity with the bonds authorized by this article, if at some later date they obtain legislative authorization for the issuance of additional bonds;

(8) covenant as to the use of the proceeds derived from the sale of any bonds issued pursuant to this article;

(9) provide for the terms, form, registration, exchange, execution and authentication of bonds, and for the replacement of lost, destroyed, or mutilated bonds;

(10) make covenants with respect to the use of the facilities, to be constructed with the proceeds of the bonds authorized by this article, and of the other facilities, whose revenues must be pledged for the payment of the bonds;

(11) covenant that all revenues or net revenues of the particular facilities pledged for the payment of the bonds must be segregated into special funds and that the funds must be used solely for the purposes for which they are intended and for no other purpose;

(12) covenant for the mandatory redemption of bonds on the terms and conditions as the resolutions authorizing the bonds prescribe;

(13) provide for early defeasance of bonds through the establishment of special escrow accounts maintained by a corporate trustee, which may be the State Treasurer, of cash or United States government obligations, or obligations of agencies of them, which escrows may be funded with proceeds of bonds issued under the provisions of this article or revenues or other funds available to the University;

(14) prescribe the procedure, if any, by which the terms of the contract with the bondholders may be amended, the number of bonds whose holders must consent to it, and the manner in which consent is given;

(15) covenant as to the maintenance of the facilities, whose revenues must be pledged for the payment of the bonds, the insurance to be carried on them, and the use and disposition of proceeds from any insurance policy;

(16) prescribe the events of default and the terms and conditions upon which all or any bonds become or may be declared due before maturity and the terms and conditions upon which the declaration and its consequences may be waived;

(17) impose a statutory lien upon the facilities designated by the trustees, the revenues or net revenues of which must be pledged to secure the bonds. The lien must extend to the facilities, to their appurtenances and extension, to their additions, improvements and enlargements to the extent specified in the resolutions and must inure to the benefit of the holders of the bonds secured by the lien. The facilities remain subject to the statutory lien until the payment in full of the principal and interest of the bonds. A holder of a bond, or any of the coupons representing interest on them, either at law or in equity, by suit, action, mandamus, or other proceedings, may protect and enforce the statutory lien, and by suit, action, mandamus, or other proceedings may enforce and compel performance of all duties of the trustees, including the fixing of sufficient rates, the proper segregation of the revenues, and the proper application of them. However, the statutory lien may not be construed to give the bond or coupon holder authority to compel the sale of any of the facilities or any part of them;

(18) covenant that if there is a default in the payment of the principal of or interest upon any of the bonds, a court having jurisdiction in any proper action may appoint a receiver to administer and operate the facilities designated by the trustees, whose revenues or net revenues are pledged for the payment of the bonds, with power to fix rates and charges for the facilities, sufficient to provide for the payment of the expense of operating and maintaining the facilities, and to apply the income and revenues of the facilities to the payment of the bonds, and the interest on them;

(19) establish on or before the delivery of any bonds issued pursuant to this article a debt service reserve fund and to cause it to be deposited with a corporate trustee, who may be the State Treasurer, and to that end, the trustees are empowered to utilize any monies available for that purpose, including revenues previously accumulated from the facilities before the issuance of bonds. In the discretion of the trustees, in lieu of cash, the debt service reserve fund may be funded with a surety bond, insurance policy, letter of credit, line of credit, or similar guarantee. At the discretion of the trustees, the University may purchase an insurance policy insuring payment of both principal and interest on any issuance of bonds under the provisions of this article;

(20) appoint a corporate trustee, who may be the State Treasurer, or paying agent to whom must be paid all or any portion of the revenues or net revenues pledged to the payment of the bonds or derived from the operation of the facilities, and to prescribe the manner in which these revenues or net revenues must be utilized and disposed of. The corporate trustee shall serve in a fiduciary capacity as trustee for the bondholders under the resolutions of the trustees authorizing the issuance of bonds.

SECTION 59-117-330. No time limit for issuing bonds.

No time limit is set for the issuance of bonds pursuant to this article.

Title 59 - Education

CHAPTER 103.

STATE COMMISSION ON HIGHER EDUCATION

ARTICLE 1.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

SECTION 59-103-5. Definitions.

For purposes of this chapter (1) "public higher education" shall mean state-supported education in the post-secondary field, including comprehensive and technical education; (2) "public institution of higher learning" shall mean any state-supported-post-secondary educational institution and shall include technical and comprehensive educational institutions.

SECTION 59-103-10. State Commission on Higher Education created; membership.

There is created the State Commission on Higher Education. The commission shall consist of fourteen members appointed by the Governor. The membership must consist of one at-large member to serve as chairman, one representative from each of the six congressional districts, three members appointed from the State at-large, three representatives of the public colleges and universities, and one representative of the independent colleges and universities of South Carolina.

The membership of the Commission on Higher Education must be as follows:

(1) Nine members, six to represent each of the congressional districts of this State appointed by the Governor upon the recommendation of a majority of the senators and a majority of the members of the House of Representatives comprising the legislative delegation from the district and three members appointed from the State at-large upon the advice and consent of the Senate. Each representative of a congressional district must be a resident of the congressional district he represents. In order to qualify for appointment, the representatives from the congressional districts and those appointed at large must have experience in at least one of the following areas: business, the education of future leaders and teachers, management, or policy. A member representing the congressional districts or appointed at large must not have been, during the succeeding five years, a member of a governing body of a public institution of higher learning in this State and must not be employed or have immediate family members employed by any of the public colleges and universities of this State. These members must be appointed for terms of four years and shall not serve on the commission for more than two consecutive terms. However, the initial term of office for a member appointed from an even-numbered congressional district shall be two years.

If the boundaries of the congressional districts are changed, members serving on the commission shall continue to serve until the expiration of their current terms, but successors to members whose terms expire must be appointed from the newly defined congressional districts. If a congressional district is added, the commission must be enlarged to include a representative from that district.

(2) Three members to serve ex officio to represent the public colleges and universities appointed by the Governor with the advice and consent of the Senate. It shall not be a conflict of interest for any voting ex officio member to vote on matters pertaining to their individual college or university. One member must be serving on the board of trustees of one of the public senior research institutions, one member must be serving on the board of trustees of one of the four-year public institutions of higher learning, and one member must be a member of one of the local area technical education commissions or the State Board for Technical and Comprehensive Education to represent the State Board for Technical and Comprehensive Education. These members must be appointed to serve terms of two years with terms to rotate among the institutions.

(3) One ex officio member to represent the independent colleges and universities by the Governor upon the advice and consent of the Senate. The individual appointed must be serving as a member of the Advisory Council of Private College Presidents. This member must be appointed for a term of two years and shall serve as a nonvoting member.

(4) One at-large member to serve as chairman appointed by the Governor with the advice and consent of the Senate. This member must be appointed for a term of four years and may be reappointed for one additional term; however, he may serve only one term as chairman.

The Governor, by his appointments, shall assure that various economic interests and minority groups, especially women and blacks, are fairly represented on the commission and shall attempt to assure that the graduates of no one public or private college or technical college are dominant on the commission. Vacancies must be filled in the manner of the original appointment for the unexpired portion of the term. All members of the commission shall serve until their successors are appointed and qualify.

Failure to obtain such accreditation or candidate status within nineteen months after publication of the list of approved agencies shall result in the Commission on Higher Education revoking the status of such college or school as a recognized college or school of chiropractic.

Provided, further, any college of chiropractic applying for a South Carolina charter must furnish the Commission on Higher Education with sufficient evidence that such school will qualify for required accreditation. Upon certification by the Commission on Higher Education to the Secretary of State, the Secretary of State may issue a charter; provided, further, however, that any college now chartered must attain required licensure before one hundred eighty days after the effective date of this act or have its charter revoked upon a finding by the Attorney General that such licensure has not been attained by such date. ## Overview

Georgetown University, in July 2012, published a report, A Decade Behind: Breaking out of the Low-Skill Trap in the Southern Economy, in which it states, “educational attainment is improving in the South, but many parts of the region are caught in a vicious economic cycle that ensures they will lag behind the nation in creating high-paying jobs and producing workers who can fill them.” The South, as defined by the U. S. Census, consists of sixteen states plus Washington, DC.

The report estimates, using different forecasting methodology than the Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS), that by 2020, 65% of all jobs will require some form of postsecondary education and training. Fourteen southern states, including South Carolina, will fall below that level. Today 54% of all jobs in the south require postsecondary education and training, compared to 59% nationally. By 2020, the percent of jobs requiring postsecondary education and training in South Carolina will have increased to 56% - well below the percentage that the nation as a whole reached in 2010.

56% OF JOBS IN SOUTH CAROLINA WILL REQUIRE POSTSECONDARY EDUCATION AND TRAINING IN 2020 (DOWN SLIGHTLY FROM 57% IN 2010)

While “brain-drain” can result if education is emphasized without a coordinated effort to attract high-paying and high-skills jobs, University South Carolina Aiken is embarking on a path to increase the education level of the workforce and stem the flight of educated adults by surveying the addition of programs within the context of future local employment need. The report suggests that South Carolina jobs in healthcare are expected to grow by 22%, while STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics) positions will grow by 18% by 2020, compared to 33% and 23% respectively for all southern states.

This projection analysis for University South Carolina Aiken is designed to aid the University in its decision as to which prospective new programs to add to the current degree offerings through an evaluation of which occupations have the most potential for future job openings, both from organic growth and replacement. The geographic area for the analysis consists of South Carolina State and the Georgia Workforce Investment Area (WIA) of Richmond-Burke (Richmond and Burke Counties).

For each program under consideration a summary of South Carolina State and Richmond-Burke WIA data for the total number of occupations reviewed is presented. Rather than list each occupation within this report, a total is shown for the sake both of brevity and clarity. Appendix A contains the detailed data by occupation, projected annual growth and replacement numbers, as well as the most typical source of education, and, at the national employment level, percentages of workers with a Bachelor's, Master's or Doctoral/Professional Degree by occupation. Detailing the educational attainment of the current employment base demonstrates the percent to whom the prospective programs could be targeted, in addition to outlining future worker potential.

Many occupations' current and projected employment numbers are shown as "**". This asterisk denotes a figure that may compromise company confidentiality as to the number of workers employed by specific occupation and the associated wage and is therefore not released. To provide a fuller picture the national projection is included from which trends can be assessed if specific South Carolina and Georgia WIA data is not shown or is incomplete.

In 2010 the Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) completed a revision of the 2000 Standard Occupation Classification (SOC) system. The revisions increase clarity, correct errors, and account for changes in technology and in the nature or organization of work and expanded the 821 detailed occupations to 840. While these changes reflect some of the occupation information anticipated by University South Carolina Aiken, projection data is, unfortunately, not yet available due to the projection methodology; for example detail for occupations such as Nurse Practitioner is still contained within the occupation code for Registered Nurses.

National employment projections are developed every other year with the most recent available the 2010-2020 cycle. The South Carolina projections mirror the national time frame. Georgia WIA projection years are 2008-2018; it is not unusual to have a two year lag. For the purposes of this analysis the difference in projection years is not considered distinctive.

For the 2010-2020 time period, employment in the United States is projected by the Bureau of Labor Statistics to grow overall by 14.3%. This equates to over 20 million new jobs over 10 years. Replacement jobs, defined as the number of projected openings resulting from workers retiring from or permanently leaving an occupation, add to the number of total openings and are estimated to be an additional 34 million. As a result both new jobs and replacements need to be taken into account when considering an occupation's hiring potential. South Carolina projects a 14% growth rate as well, adding over 270,000 jobs during the 10 years and replacing approximately 470,000. The ratio of new to total openings is roughly the same, 37% of U.S., 38% of South Carolina openings will be newly created positions. Richmond-Burke WIA is estimating a much lower 3.5% ten-year growth rate, adding a total of 33,000 jobs, 23% (7,700) new.

It is important to note that the State of Georgia does not develop projection data at the county level, but at a Workforce Investment Area (WIA) level. Bill Webb, Labor Market Specialist of the Georgia Department of Labor, was particularly helpful as he explained that projections are not developed at the county level as the small numbers associated with some occupations would render the calculations outside tolerated statistical error variance, but instead are prepared at the WIA level for greater stability.

A Workforce Investment Area is defined as - A labor market area that is usually a group of contiguous counties, where employment, training, and educational services are provided; established through the Workforce Investment Act to provide services for dislocated workers and other eligible individuals. The State of Georgia is divided into twenty local Workforce Investment Areas.

The geographical range for the Richmond-Burke WIA is unavoidably larger than requested as each county's employment numbers are presented as a total of contiguous counties so as not to reveal a specific occupation's employment number or wage that could be attributed to a particular company to protect confidentiality. This is important, especially in smaller counties that may contain only one company in a particular industry, which could easily become identifiable and broadcast their employment and wage information.

Due to these constraints the WIA may overstate employment for those occupations which have employment data. Likewise, employment may be understated as the WIA may not have released employment numbers for all occupations due to confidentiality issues as noted above.

A crosswalk between the Bureau of Labor Statistics Occupational Employment Statistics Classification system and Classification of Instructional Program (CIP) codes by broad field of study was used to identify the occupations used in this examination. There is no one particular pathway to an occupation as many programs lead to the same occupations. Additionally people advance through seniority and on the job training as well as education, certainly with the exception of the more highly skilled and technical occupations.

Future Employment Projection Assessment by Program

Graduate Degrees

MAT – Science and Mathematics

This degree prepares teachers in specific subject matter which does not align directly with the SOC as occupations are classified based on work performed and, in some cases, on the skills, education, and/or training needed to perform the work at a competent level, grouping “like” duties into the same code. Projection data is for two occupations, Middle School and Secondary School Teachers, which incorporates all subjects from Physical Education to Social Studies, etc. As a whole these positions are expected to add new positions more slowly than all jobs, but there will be a strong need for replacements as current teachers retire or move into different careers. Seventy percent of South Carolina’s openings will be replacements.

A Bachelor’s degree is the entry level although distribution between Bachelors’ and Masters’ degrees is equal at approximately 46%.

Geographic Area	2010 Base Emp	2020 Projected Emp	Total Change in Emp	Growth Annual Openings	Replmnts Annual Openings	Total Annual Openings

South Carolina	21,734	24,237	2,503	250	547	797
GA R-B WIA	*	*

MBA – Liberal Arts and STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, Mathematics)

The largest in scope of the assessed programs, this review included 34 occupations focusing on business, financial and scientific/technical occupations. This broad cross-section of the labor force is estimated to yield 3,800 annual openings at the state level. Approximately 20% of the current national labor force has a Master’s or higher degree; 58% hold a Bachelor’s or higher.

In South Carolina, Accountants and Auditors followed by Management Analysts will add the most new jobs. While General and Operations Managers will offer many new positions they also have the highest number of replacement jobs and total openings. By percentage Personal Financial Advisors, Social and Community Service Managers and Management Analysts are the three fastest growing.

MEd – Teacher Education

Six occupations are included in this analysis, representing Education Administration, Secondary School Teachers and Instructional Coordinators with 45% holding a Master's degree. Overall growth will be slower than average, but significant openings will come from replacements – over 70%. This is skewed by the large contribution Secondary School Teachers makes to this program grouping as they are 62% of the employment total. Removing them increases the new jobs growth rate from 11% to 17% in South Carolina, and, while replacement jobs will still outnumber new positions, the rate falls to 62%, equal to the replacement rate for all occupations.

MS – Biology

This collection of occupations can be examined as two sub-sets, science related and computer/math related. While the majority of Classification of Instructional Program (CIP) codes center on science and, therefore, science occupations, there is a place for a few computer related professions derived from four CIP codes: 26.1101 Biometry/Biometrics, 26.1102 Biostatistics, 26.1104 Computational Biology and 26.1199 Biomathematics, Bioinformatics, and Computational Biology, Other. Occupations would include Biometrician or Programming Methodology Researcher as two examples.

As University South Carolina Aiken's focus will more likely be on science related occupations computer comments will be brief. Examined using national numbers due to South Carolina aggregating data under a minor group in the taxonomy (15-1000 Computer Specialists), growth is projected to be 21% adding 22,000 new jobs and replacing 17,500 annually; an area in which new jobs outstrip replacements.

In South Carolina, looking solely at science related positions and excluding both computer and educational jobs, the growth rate is projected to be a strong 18%. Annually 49 new and replacement positions will be hired. The fastest growth rates will come from Medical Scientists, Except Epidemiologists at 47% and Biochemists & Biophysicists at 33%. Almost 30% of those employed in these occupations hold a Master's degree with a further 21% of Biochemists and 64% of Medical Scientists have a Doctorate.

MS – Clinical Exercise Science

One of the few occupation groupings that have more new job openings than replacements, this education program points to nine occupation codes. Therapists, All Other (29-1129) includes data for the new 2010 SOC Exercise Physiologists (29-1128), referenced earlier regarding the projection methodology. Some of the pathways through this degree would lead to positions as varied as Clinical Pharmacologist, Geriatric Physical Therapist or Histopathologist.

Two occupations, Rehabilitation Counselors and Physical Therapists, represent the vast majority of South Carolina employment in this group, 83%. Physical Therapists are estimated to grow by 36% with the large majority (76%) of all of openings coming from new positions, adding over 1,100 new jobs over ten years. Rehabilitation Counselors will grow more slowly and have more replacements than new positions, 68% vs. 32%, bucking the national trend.

MSN – Nurse Educator

Three occupations were reviewed for this program, Medical and Health Services Managers; Nursing Instructors and Teachers, Postsecondary; and Registered Nurses. As noted earlier the projections were unable to produce data using the updated 2010 SOC so information is for Registered Nurses only with no sub-delineation; therefore, establishing the number of Registered Nurses working as Nurse Anesthetists, Nurse Midwives or Nurse Practitioners cannot be calculated. For all RNs growth is projected at 26% and 24% for the State and WIA, respectively. Replacements are approximately 40% of total openings. Overall only 10% of RN's have Master's degrees and 3.3% have Doctoral degrees.

Detail for Nursing Instructors and Teachers, Postsecondary is not available at either the national or WIA level as all Postsecondary Teachers are projected as one minor group (25-1000 Postsecondary Teachers) in the taxonomy. For South Carolina this occupation is projected to grow by 17%, slightly faster than the 14% projected for all South Carolina occupations and replacements will provide almost half of all openings.

This field, as with all healthcare, is projected to be one of the fastest growing overall and will continue to increase in importance as the population ages.

MSN – Nursing Administration/Leadership

This program points to only one Standard Occupation Classification (SOC) title, Medical and Health Services Managers, but various job titles would include:

Clinic Director	Medical and Health Information Manager
Clinical Services Director	Medical Director
Emergency Medical Service Coordinator	Medical Records Administrator
Health Care Manager	Mental Health Program Manager
Health Services Administrator	Nursing Home Manager
Health Services Director	Nursing Service Director
Healthcare Administrator	Occupational Therapy Director
Healthcare Manager	Public Health Administrator
Hospice Director	Respiratory Therapy Director
Hospice Plan Administrator	Speech and Hearing Therapy Director
Hospital Administrator	Wellness Director
Hospital Director	Wellness Manager

Growing more quickly than total occupations in all three geographic areas, this occupation is replacing job holders as quickly as it is growing, even more so in Richmond-Burke, GA, where 61% of the openings are replacements. The entry level education threshold is a Bachelor's degree, but 23% hold Master's.

Undergraduate Degrees

BA – Criminal Justice

While all associated CIP codes indicate the occupations considered standard, such as Police and Detectives, there are many different angles from which to approach this program. Interested in building the curriculum to incorporate technology? Then consider 43.0116 Cyber/Computer Forensics and Counterterrorism for which Information Security Analysts is an employment match. Or a financial aspect? 43.0117 Financial Forensics and Fraud Investigation includes Accountants and Financial Examiners. There are others including Homeland Security and Crisis Management. Overall, however, criminal justice positions show slower growth than projected overall at 10.6% for South Carolina.

Using national statistics which have complete data for all of the associated job titles, the fastest growing professions are those that show a Bachelor's degree as the entry level education. The traditional criminal justice jobs such as Police require a high school diploma. That is not to say Bachelor degrees are unknown; 41% of Detectives and Criminal Investigators have Bachelor's as do 29% of First-Line Supervisors of Police and Detectives.

Consider, however, the projected rates of these job titles:

Accountants and Auditors	15.7%
Child, Family, and School Social Workers	19.7%
Emergency Management Directors	13.2%
Financial Examiners	27.0%
Forensic Science Technicians	18.5%
Information Security Analysts	21.7%

All, except Emergency Management Directors, are projected to grow faster than South Carolina in total. Financial Examiners and Information Security Analysts are also expected to add more new jobs than replace positions.

BA – Mechanical Engineering

Growing approximately as quickly as all occupations, four of these five positions list a Bachelor's as the typical education needed for entry. While only 14% of Mechanical Engineering Technicians have a Bachelor's degree and an Associates' degree is the most common education level, the code was retained in the analysis to illustrate growth in comparison to engineer professions, estimated to be approximately half that of Mechanical Engineers (7% vs. 15%) in South Carolina.

Looking nationally Cost Estimators will grow the fastest at 36%, add the most new jobs at 68,000 over ten years and replace 36,000 for a total hiring of 100,000.

Mechanical Engineers will match this total, but the majority of openings will come from replacements, 80,000, with only 20,000 new jobs added.

Richmond-Burke WIA will lose jobs in these occupations, and there is no indication of replacements.

BA – Nuclear Engineering

Of the five occupations pertaining to this program, South Carolina does not release data on two, Physicists or Nuclear Technicians. The remaining three present a range of growth equal to all occupations (Architectural and Engineering Managers) to very slow growth of 3% (Nuclear Engineers). South Carolina will be adding more new jobs, 36% of all openings, as compared to the U.S., for which new jobs will only be 25%.

Richmond-Burke WIA details only three of the five job titles and projections show an expected loss of jobs and no replacements.

The main education level is a Bachelor's with Physicists typically needing a Doctorate. Nuclear Technicians' entry level is an Associate's degree, but 24% in this position have a Bachelor's.

BA – Spanish

As it is impossible to limit this analysis to Spanish or even language instruction within the two educational codes (Middle and Secondary School Teachers) examination will be on Interpreters and Translators, but even this code encompasses professions such as Court or American Sign Language Interpreter as well Diplomatic or Language Interpreter. Most importantly this area is projected to grow 36% in South Carolina (42% nationally) and contribute 240 jobs over ten years, 140 new.

BA – Studio Art/Graphic-Visual Design

Of the three analysis geographies, only Richmond-Burke is expected to meet the overall U.S. growth rate, driven mainly by the occupation Producers and Directors, projected to grow 21%. Given the large number of Secondary School Teachers (Art Teachers are within this SOC), the growth rate for South Carolina and the nation is skewing down; removing the data gives a clearer trend picture of “true” art related professions. Estimated growth rates now become 12.5% (SC) and 10.5% (U.S.), still below the overall expected rates. In South Carolina a few of the stronger growth positions include Interior Designers at 18.7%, Art Directors at 14.9% and Graphic Designers at 13.5%. Thirty-four percent of openings will be new positions.

Of the 18 occupations, six indicate a high school diploma as the education entry level; however, of those positions 38% hold a Bachelor’s degree.

BS – Business Administration – Equestrian Management

This analysis was exceedingly difficult as no occupation codes are specific to the equine industry. SOC code detail in Appendix A will deliver information on animal related occupation codes, none of which require more than a high school diploma as the education entry level.

The National Employment Matrix (Appendix B), however, provides information on occupational employment distribution by industry which can identify employment prospects for that particular industry. And as prospects for the same occupation vary by industry, comparisons may be made to highlight differences. While growth projections are available, replacement needs by industry are not. Again detail does not exist for equine specifics, but reviewing employment distribution and projection for Animal Production does provide some insight.

A decline of 0.4% for the industry is projected, a loss of 1,700 from a total employment base of 449,000. Eighty percent of the employment in this industry is concentrated in two occupation codes: Miscellaneous Agricultural Workers, 50.4%, and Farmers, Ranchers, and Other Agricultural Managers, 29.6%.

To best meet the occupations most aligned with a BS, Business Administration degree, review is limited to occupations within the two SOC major categories of Management Occupations and Business and Financial Operations Occupations. These twelve SOC codes comprise 31% of industry employment. Not one profession within this industry is projected to increase, declining by 600 jobs over the ten years.

Viewed within the context of all industries, this subset is expected to increase 8% nationally, add 65,000 new jobs and replace over 126,000 for total openings in excess of 190,000. In South Carolina ten SOC codes have associated data; missing are Farmers, Ranchers, and Other Agricultural Managers and Buyers and Purchasing Agents, Farm Products. New jobs will be approximately 670, and replacements 1,250 over ten years with a projected growth rate of 8.3%.

BS – Business Administration – Health Care Management

The SOC system places occupations into one of 23 major groups. Of the three fastest growing groups, two are healthcare related: Healthcare Practitioners and Technical Occupations and Healthcare Support Occupations at 26% and 35% respective projected national growth rates. In addition the Healthcare Practitioners and Technical Occupations category is expected to add the second highest number of new jobs, in excess of two million over ten years.

Three occupations were examined for this program; in total they are projected to grow 16% in South Carolina and the U.S. and 5% in Richmond-Burke WIA. One occupation, Medical and Health Services Managers, is a standout with 23% growth projected in South Carolina, 22% in the U.S. and 16% in Richmond-Burke WIA. The state will add more new jobs than replacements in contrast to the U.S. As a grouping, replacements will still outnumber new openings.

Two positions list a High school diploma as entry level criteria, but Bachelor's degrees are held by approximately 25%.

BS – Environmental and Sustainability Studies

Of the six occupations reviewed, the data presents almost polar opposites: two should grow at a much faster rate than overall South Carolina jobs while the other four will lag. Medical Scientists, Except Epidemiologists and Environmental Scientists and Specialists, Including Health are projected to grow at 47% and 24% respectively. No growth is expected from Biological Scientists, All Other, but in total these jobs should expand by 720 jobs over ten years, almost 300 new.

Education requirements are high with two of the professions needing a Doctorate.

(The Honorable C. Dorn Smith reported)

Dr. Smith said that the Health Affairs Committee met on Friday, March 28, 2014, at which time the following reports were received for information.

Dean Jeanette Andrews updated the committee on the College of Nursing, sharing that the college’s focus was the pursuit of excellence in the areas of research, practice, education, partnerships and promoting a healthy climate. She reported that the college's research portfolio was growing and it had two research centers – the Cancer Survivorship Center and the Healthcare Process and Redesign Center – and operated a nurse practitioner managed primary health clinic, the Children and Family Health Center, at which about 3,000 patients a year were seen. She said the college's graduate programs were ranked among the top 3 percent in the country in the 2014 rankings by U.S. News and World Report, noting that graduate enrollment is growing and the program is producing highly employable students. Dean Andrews also reported that currently the most in demand degree was the Bachelor of Science in Nursing. Health Affairs Committee members raised some concerns about the upper division admissions process. Dean Andrews and Kimberly Glenn, assistant dean for Undergraduate Admissions, explained that going forward, admission into the upper division will be based on the core curriculum only (electives will not be a factor). In addition, a science GPA of 3.0 must be maintained by the student. Students already are counseled and advised on the competitive nature of admittance to the upper division and about alternate options of study. A brochure featuring eight alternate career paths is being distributed to students. In addition, students now receive earlier notification (prior to the fourth semester) of acceptance into the upper division. Currently, there is no ranking system available to provide students with real-time information on their class rank; however, discussion about the feasibility of implementing such a system is in process.

Dr. Smith said that Secretary Stone presented a report from USC School of Medicine Greenville – Joint Board Liaison Committee's (JBLC) February 4, 2014, meeting on behalf of Committee Chairman Mack I. Whittle, Jr. She reported that USC School of Medicine (USCSOM) Greenville Dean Jerry R. Youkey provided the JBLC an update on the current interview process for the class of 2018. There were 2,747 applications received for the incoming class of 75. About 500 of these are South Carolina residents.

Secretary Stone said that Derek Payne, chief financial officer for the Greenville Health System, provided the JBLC second quarter financials, noting expenses were favorable. He said that recruitment of faculty was continuing and a staffing plan was recently completed. Dean Youkey also reported on the recent Clinical Learning Environment Review (CLER) site visit by the Accreditation Council for Graduate Medical Education (ACGME). Three main areas were evaluated: resident knowledge of patient safety and quality; the medical school's preparation of students for residency; and the learning environment. Dean Youkey informed the JBLC that things were on track for the upcoming Liaison Committee on Medical Education (LCME) site visit scheduled for July 13-16, 2014.

Secretary Stone also told the Health Affairs Committee that President Pastides discussed with the JBLC the training of third-year, Columbia campus medical students, which will move to Florence in Fall 2014. President Pastides emphasized that he would like to continue to have the expertise of Dean Youkey and the Greenville Health System to assist with this effort.

Mr. Westbrook seconded the motion. Mr. Fennell asked that the current list be updated to correct outdated information related to administrators responsible for the various awards. The vote was taken and the motion passed.

Mr. Brown also reported that four members of the Board of Governors were each elected for another three-year term (Amy Faulkenberry, Bob Royall, Lisa Bishara and Frances Ashe-Goins); while Deepal Eliatamby was re-elected secretary and John Wentzell was re-elected treasurer; and Tommy Preston will serve as the association's new president-elect. Mr. Brown went on to explain that the association had created a new organizational structure to better align it to effectively support the new services agreement with the University. Under the new organizational structure, there will be four divisions – operations, communications and advocacy, alumni engagement, and membership and development.

Wrapping up his report, Mr. Brown said that the association’s recent membership drive had netted $143,000 in additional net revenue and that construction, which began March 31, was underway on the new Alumni Center with an estimated completion date of June 2015.

IV. Report of the President

This beautiful spring day belies the turbulence that continues throughout American public higher education. The most recent national enrollment figures are not good – the U.S. enrollment in public higher education is down 2 percent and way down at for-profit institutions, and also way down at small private institutions.

I am so happy that enrollments are not down at USC Columbia or in the system as a whole. May the first is the day across the country when students’ deposits are due to colleges and universities. USC is faring well, bucking the trend and I’m confident that in Columbia, and in the system as a whole, our enrollments will be stable or up.

You heard earlier that the good news about USC is spreading as gaged by the number of people who take their visits to Carolina. The Visitors Center offered 15 percent more visits than the year before.

In 2013, Moody’s bond-rating agency downgraded the debt ratings of 21 public universities but, of course, not ours. They cited “declining state funding,” we have that; “flat or declining enrollment,” we don’t have that; and “lack of expense containment,” we don’t have that. We’re doing a lot at Carolina to contain costs. As you know, we’re operating under our new administrative reorganization that this board approved on the 21st of February. We analyze every proposed new expense under a magnifying glass. The starting question right out of the gate is will it advance student success? If not, there’s no conversation; if so, the proposal can at least carry forward for conversation.

We do need to examine new revenue streams and the board will be hearing more about my plans to deliver online education to new audiences, those that badly desire what we can offer and those that have the ability to pay; more on that later.

Around our campuses, it’s clear how much of a sorely needed facelift we’re getting. Again, my thanks to our University Architect Derek Gruner; every project is in favor of our core mission, taking better care of our students. You heard, but I’m delighted to reiterate that the Darla Moore School of Business will begin offering limited classes this summer and a dedication in the fall. The Women’s quad will be back online this fall; Mass Communications renovation in the old health sciences building is well underway. This month construction began on a new student housing project, a unique, private 878-bed facility that will allow upperclassmen to live in the heart of the west campus.

Goethe referred to architecture as 'frozen music;' if that's the case, then USC will become an increasingly beautiful symphony of architecture supporting thriving education. But right now, we're not ready for the symphony we're in the rehearsal phase of symphonic music.

A few recent recognitions that you may, or may not know about, Professor Milind Kunchur was named the 2014 South Carolina Professor of the Year at a (ceremony) with Governor Haley this past week.

A large number of students have been offered some of the country's most prestigious honors including Goldwaters, Fulbrights, and NSF Graduate Research Fellowships. I recently learned that one of our distinguished USC alumni, Michael LaForgia, just won a Pulitzer Prize. He's a former Daily Gamecock editor, now at the Tampa Bay Times. At 30, he is the youngest reporter on the staff to have ever won the award.

It is a celebratory time of year, of course, 6,616 degrees will be awarded system wide during our May commencements beginning next week. An even better number, though, since 2008 when my presidency began, 55,228 degrees have been awarded; more than under any other president in the history of the University, including many who served far longer than I have. I'm very proud of that number.

There will be speakers, parents, photos, tassels, ribbons, and this year, for the first time a Leadership cord. And on Monday, we'll recognize 94 students, the first in the University to graduate with distinction in leadership. We'll have a special ceremony for them on Monday and you will see them wearing their cord at graduation. They had to maintain a high GPA and fulfill additional requirements in one of four pathways: community service, global learning, research, or professional and civic engagement. It is my goal that a majority of Carolina students someday will graduate with distinction in leadership.

Summer will come quickly. We will take a short breath and then prepare for my State of the University in the fall, which I'm already thinking about and preparing for, then we'll have freshman convocation, new student orientations, and many other things.

In closing, Coach Spurrier and I started a new tradition – this is the second year that he came over after the spring football game with the Gamecock football players who are either graduating or departing for the NFL draft this year, there are 14 of them. I was excited as any fan would be, but this wasn't about autographs or photographs or anything like that. Just 14 wonderful young men, with big appetites I might add, humbly saying goodbye to their president and to their football coach; wonderful Gamecocks through and through.

One final thought, on Sunday Coach Tanner and I will travel to Atlanta where we will be meeting with all the SEC universities to figure out the schedule for SEC football – how many Western division games, how many SEC required games. I think it already has been published that Coach Tanner and I and Coach Spurrier would prefer to keep it at eight SEC games with no permanent Western division opponent. We would like every one of our Gamecock players to be able in their four years to cycle through and either play against at home or visit every other university in the SEC. I don't have great hopes that that will be the prevailing vote; there are quite a few teams that want to keep their permanent rival across the division. But I have higher hope that there will be eight rather than nine required SEC games.

V. Report of the Outgoing Student Government President

Chairman Warr called Chase Mizzell and President Pastides to join him at the podium. He welcomed the former Columbia Campus Student Government President and asked Secretary Stone to read the framed certificate to be presented to Mr. Mizzell in recognition of his service as Student Government President and for his contribution as the student representative to the Board of Trustees:

Presented to Chase Mizzell by the Board of Trustees of the University of South Carolina in appreciation for outstanding contributions and service to the University.
March 2013 to March 2014.

Signed Harris Pastides, President; Gene Warr, Chairman of the Board of Trustees; and Amy Stone, Secretary of the Board of Trustees.

Chairman Warr then offered Mr. Mizzell the opportunity to comment on his tenure as Student Government President.

Mr. Mizzell thanked everyone, making the following comments:

It has been an incredible honor to spend time with each of you in the Board Room, but more importantly, individually. Mr. President, Mr. Chairman, Ms. Secretary, each of the Board members, each of the Administrators and friends, the relationship that you have invested with me has been meaningful. When Gene says that I may be somewhere one day, it is, no doubt, due to many of the efforts and mentoring and support that you have provided me. And I want to particularly thank you for the individual mentorship and relationships that you've created. For me, people are what matter most and that relationships can be the most important thing in life.

If I am to have just a couple of hopes for the University as I am leaving, one is that we maintain a commitment and an understanding of what it means to be a liberal arts institution. That we understand that we never forget and we never give up our commitment to educating students; to challenging and building character; to encourage them to discover; and to think about ethics. That we never sacrifice those things at the altar of job acquisition or ratings, but that we understand that the power of the University is in its strength to develop people, not just students.

I gave my last tour on campus today to a group of prospective graduates, as we call them. I always end my tours by saying that when you walk across the stage and you turn your tassel, it is our sincere hope that you not only leave as a better student but as a better person because that is what being a university is about. And, I always almost comically, but very seriously say, with any luck as a Carolinian you will come back and dedicate much time and effort to investing in those people who have invested so much in you.

Second, I hope you will continue, and I am very proud of the dedication we've put into, access. Giving students the opportunity to succeed is integral to being a public institution. There is no greater moment. I experienced this as president when we took our system campus (student government) presidents to Washington, D.C. There was a distinct moment, when we walked out of the Vice President of the United States Office, when one of the system campus presidents walked up to me – let me give you the back story quickly before I tell you what she said. Before the trip, she had never left South Carolina, she had never been on a plane, and she had never ridden the Metro, and of course, had never been near major political figures. And in a matter of two days, she flew to D.C., took the Metro in downtown, and one day later she found herself sitting next to the Vice President of the United States.

As she walked out, she looked at me and said, 'Chase this has turned my world upside down. This has changed my perspective on everything; on who I can be on what I can accomplish, on what impact I can have on the world.' I can find no greater purpose in a university than to shatter the glass ceiling of every South Carolinian; that we take them in and we challenge them and we push them and we give them every opportunity to become more than they ever could have imaged.

I can't leave without congratulating Ms. Lindsay Richardson. She has put in an incredible amount of work. She has been an excellent leader. But, I also would like to congratulate (the Board) for the opportunity that (it has) to work with her. Don't take it for granted; learn from her character and her dedication. Invest time in her as you have in me. She is going to be an incredible leader.

Thank you to each of you. I hope that in the future that I can maintain a relationship both personal and professional with many of you. And, I'm confident in saying that as I'm leaving the University it is due to (your) efforts that I will leave not only as a better student, but as a better person. And, undoubtedly, as a Carolinian for life.

'Forever to thee.'

Chairman Warr thanked Mr. Mizzell and announced there was an additional matter that needed to be considered in executive session. He asked for a motion to enter executive session for the receipt of legal advice.

Before the motion, Mr. Burroughs asked for a future discussion on establishing or not establishing a debt limit for the University. Mr. von Lehe voiced his support of such a topic and Chairman Warr indicated that could be done. Dr. Smith then made the motion to enter executive session for receipt of legal advice; Ms. Moody seconded the motion; the vote was taken and the motion passed.

Chairman Warr invited the following persons to remain: Trustees, President Pastides, Secretary Stone, Mr. Parham, Mr. Walton, Ms. Brunelli, Mr. Byrd, Ms. Doran, and Provost Amiridis.

Return to Open Session

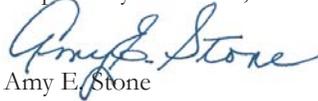

VI. Other Matters

There were no other matters to come before the committee.

VII. Adjournment

Since there were no other matters to come before the Executive Committee, Chairman Warr declared the meeting adjourned at 5:15 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,

Amy E. Stone

Appendix I: USC Aiken's Consortia Agreement –
PASCAL

June 6, 2007

Dear Jane,

We are looking forward to working with you and your staff to make PASCAL Delivers a great success, and an asset to the end users in your academic community.

Attached please find a copy of the PASCAL Delivers Memorandum of Understanding. The document represents the version reviewed at the December 2006 general meeting and subsequently approved by the Board of Directors. As was discussed at the May meeting, we are sending it to libraries that are in various phases of implementation and training. Going forward, we will request signatures from library directors as we begin PASCAL Delivers implementation for a library.

Please sign both copies, return one copy to the PASCAL Office and retain one for your files. Don't hesitate to contact me if you have any questions.

Sincerely,

Rick Moul

PASCAL Delivers Memorandum of Understanding

Preface: This document serves as a service-level agreement, to be read and signed by participants in the PASCAL Delivers universal borrowing service. This agreement will be revised and renewed by the Universal Borrowing Committee members on an annual basis.

Statement of Purpose: One of PASCAL's paramount objectives is to provide students and faculty of South Carolina's institutions of higher education with universal, cost-effective, and easy access to the academic library collections in South Carolina.

PASCAL Responsibilities

PASCAL staff, including but not limited to the Executive Director, the Academic Resources Coordinator, and the Technical Programs Coordinator, is responsible for the operation of the PASCAL Delivers program.

- Maintains and trains participating libraries on system hardware, software, and enhancements for the universal borrowing program.
- Serves as system administrator for central Innovative server and Direct Consortial Borrowing (DCB) server.
- Oversees delivery system to monitor and facilitate fulfillment of service-level agreements with the delivery service provider and among member institutions.
- Serves as a clearinghouse for library and delivery routines, questions, and suggestions.
- Collects statistics and gives members an annual report reflecting system activity and health.

The Universal Borrowing Committee, which reports to and is under the oversight of the PASCAL Executive Board, is responsible for establishing policies and means for supporting efficient delivery of materials among participating libraries.

- Develops and maintains state-level policies and procedures (see Appendix A).

Participant Responsibilities

Member libraries are responsible for providing materials according to the agreed-upon policies and procedures.

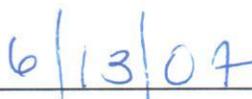

- Provide at the participant's expense those resources not covered by PASCAL which are deemed necessary to participate in the universal borrowing program; e.g. staff, system hardware and software support, library instruction, SSL certificate. Expenses can vary by ILS vendor; contact PASCAL for details.
- Provide bibliographic and holdings records for inclusion in the INN-Reach catalog.
- Maintain bibliographic, holdings, and patron records to agreed-upon consortium standards.
- Each member shall participate in online direct patron borrowing by authorized patrons.
- Each member shall participate in physical lending of material.
- Each member-institution shall designate a Facility Administrator who will coordinate delivery and pickup with the courier and the Program Administrator. Each member-institution shall have at least one person responsible for monitoring the PASCAL Delivers discussion list, which is the primary means of communication for matters which concern all members of the program.
- Communicate problems or complaints to PASCAL staff and/or Universal Borrowing Committee members to facilitate resolution.
- Use of the delivery service shall be limited to library material only.

Appendix A
Policies and Procedures
November 10, 2006

To be used for 2007, the inaugural year of PASCAL Delivers:

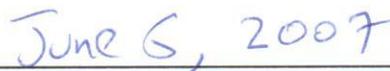

1. All meaningful bibliographic records from participating libraries will be loaded, even if some items will not circulate via PASCAL Delivers.
2. E-journal links (856 field of the MARC record) will be included and will display in the universal catalog.
3. We have built in the flexibility to loan different types of items – with varying loan periods for each – but only books will circulate at this time. The Committee must agree to add other item types.
4. The union catalog will have request limits based on eligible patron types. These are currently set at 25 requests for all patron types.
5. Faculty members, staff members, full-time and part-time students may use PASCAL Delivers, but Community/Other users may not.
6. At this time, the loan period for books is 6 weeks with no renewal. The actual check-out time for the library is 7 weeks, to allow for transit time.
7. The authorization information will be patron name and the ID number used by each library.
8. During 2007, lending libraries will be randomly selected by the system (that is, system-balanced). Statistics will be examined to determine if additional load-balancing factors should be considered.
9. Member-institutions have two (2) business days to respond to incoming borrower requests.

The prospective lower tier participant agrees by submitting this proposal that, should the proposed covered transaction be entered into, it shall not knowingly enter into any lower tier covered transaction with a person who is debarred, suspended, declared ineligible, or voluntarily excluded from participation in this covered transaction, unless authorized by the department or agency with which this transaction originated.
6. The prospective lower tier participant further agrees by submitting this proposal that it will include the clause titled "Certification Regarding Debarment, Suspension, Ineligibility, and Voluntary Exclusion-- Lower Tier Covered Transactions," without modification, in all lower tier covered transactions and in all solicitations for lower tier covered transactions.
7. A participant in a covered transaction may rely upon a certification of a prospective participant in a lower tier covered transaction that is not debarred, suspended, ineligible, or voluntarily excluded from the covered transaction, unless it knows that the certification is erroneous. A participant may decide the method and frequency by which it determines the eligibility of its principals. Each participant may, but is not required to, check the Nonprocurement List.
8. Nothing contained in the foregoing shall be construed to require establishment of a system of records in order to render in good faith the certification required by this clause. The knowledge and information of a participant is not required to exceed that which is normally possessed by a prudent person in the ordinary course of business dealings.
9. Except for transactions authorized under paragraph 5 of these instructions, if a participant in a covered transaction knowingly enters into a lower tier covered transaction with a person who is suspended, debarred, ineligible, or voluntarily excluded from participation in this transaction, in addition to other remedies available to the Federal Government, the department or agency with which this transaction originated may pursue available remedies, including suspension and/or debarment.

NOTE: A completed copy of the "Certification Regarding Debarment, Suspension, Ineligibility and Voluntary Exclusion--Lower Tier Covered Transactions" form must be retained by the Institution. The original blank certification must be returned with the PPA.
